Liberal Wins Bagot Contest By 473 Votes

Quebec Federal Seat Rendered Vacant by Death of Member-Elect Again Returns Liberal Supporter

Majority Jumps By Three Hundred

Mr. G. D. Morin Victor in By-Election—Hon. Andre Fauteux, Conservative Candidate, Beaten Again

ACTONVILLE, Que., Dec. 7.—Bagot remains Liberal, but with the majority considerably reduced as a result of today's election. Returns by long-distance telephone give a majority to G. D. Morin, Liberal, of 473. In the general election the Liberal majority was 774.

As was expected, the village and parish of St. Pie proved the chief source of Liberal strength. It is in St. Pie that Mr. Morin practices as a notary, and here the Liberal majority of 803 secured in the general election was increased to 851. In St. Pie alone, Mr. Morin more than secured his net lead over his Conservative opponent, Hon. Andre Fauteux.

Early returns from the town of Actonville indicated that the Liberal majority might be wiped out, although, in this, the only town in the whole constituency, a majority of 278 secured in the general elections was reduced to eighty-two.

Majorities Reduced
In Upton, the Liberal majority dropped by four; in St. Christine, from 110 to 86; in St. Andre, from 54 to 29; in St. Dominique, from 181 to 106; in St. Liboire, from 107 to 87. In not a single polling subdivision, so far as figures available indicate, was there a reversal in party sentiment.

St. Rose, the recognized Conservative parish of the county, did not give the majority for Mr. Fauteux which his supporters had expected. In the general elections his majority there was 178. Today it was 159. In St. Simon he increased his general election majority by ten. In St. Helen his majority was reduced by ten. In St. Nazaire his majority is down by five. He made his greatest increase in majority in St. Theodore, where he advanced from sixty-two to eighty-six.

Liberals Now Have 101
OTTAWA, Dec. 7.—The election of D. G. Morin, Liberal, to the constituency of Bagot in the House of Commons, means the Government probably will meet Parliament with 101 Liberal supporters against the Conservatives' 117. The remaining seats will be occupied by twenty-four Progressives, two Labor members and one Independent. The composition of the House may be altered as a result of recounts, but the above is the standing of the parties at present.

Chinese Tong War May Follow Clash

One Oriental Dead, One Dying and Another Wounded in Mexican Battle

MEXICALI, L.C., Dec. 7.—A new Chinese tong war is anticipated by police here as the result of a shooting affray today. One Chinese was killed, another is said to be dying, while a third is in a hospital with bullet wounds in both legs.

Police were told that the three men were attacked when a fourth Chinese became enraged and ran amok. Authorities doubt this, however, and are rounding up long leaders for questioning.

All Hope Abandoned For Missing Vessel

Steamer Copaxai Believed Lost With Crew of Thirty—Long Overdue at Havana

KEY WEST, Dec. 7.—Virtually all hope has been abandoned for the finding of the steamer Copaxai, which left Charleston November 29 bound for Havana with a cargo of coal, and which has not been heard from since last Tuesday, when R. O. R. signals were received from the vessel. It was revealed here tonight. It is believed that the steamer fell a victim to a tropical storm, although there is the possibility that members of her crew, numbering thirty men, were picked up by a passing vessel.

The hope that the crew was saved is only slight, however, since an elapsed of considerable time has failed to bring word from any of them.

Ship Pilot Loses Life When Steamer Strands

QUEBEC, Dec. 7.—Efforts to locate Pilot Jules Lachance, who was in charge of the freight steamer Airde, which went aground on the east end of Isle Aux Coudres, seventy miles below Quebec, Saturday night, have proved futile, and it is now believed that the grounding cost the pilot's life. When the ship grounded, Pilot Lachance was at his post, and it was only an hour later that his disappearance was noticed.

Higher Gas Tax Proposed

OLYMPIA, Wash., Dec. 7.—A bill which would increase the gasoline tax in Washington from two cents to three cents for the building of new roads was filed in the House of the State Legislature today.

Premier Tells Why Credit Letters Given

Hon. John Oliver Explains Reasons for Guaranteeing Over-Commitments on University Contract

"Nothing Wrong or Unconstitutional"

Knows No Reason for Not Giving Authority—Willing to Abide by Decision of House

THE statement by the Leader of the Opposition that the Conservatives would oppose the passage of the British Columbia University Loan Act until the fullest possible light had been shed on the whole circumstances of the over-commitments, and a statement by Premier Oliver respecting the letters given by him to the E. J. Ryan Contracting Company, Ltd., featured the debate on the second reading of the bill in the legislature last night. Premier Oliver, after defining his position, and denying that he had acted unconstitutionally, acceded to the demand of Mr. R. H. Pooley, that further discussion be adjourned.

The debate was followed by the formal presentation of the evidence taken before the Public Accounts Committee in connection with the subject.

Mr. Pooley, in opening his remarks, stated that the Cabinet Ministers collectively knew before the last session of the House that the vote had been over-committed.

Statement Challenged

Hon. Mr. MacLean—"I challenge that statement. He can not do it." Premier Oliver—"The Leader of the Opposition is not to be taken seriously. He cannot refer to or discuss evidence not before this House which was taken in committee."

Mr. Pooley stated that the question should be deferred until such time as the whole of the facts were in the possession of the members. He pointed out that the Premier's statement that the House had been over-committed was a statement which was not before this House which was taken in committee.

Young Girl Spy Held in Paris

Three Britons Also Held by French Police—Aircraft Stations Spied On by Woman

PARIS, Dec. 7.—The keenest curiosity as to what foreign country in these times of peace and goodwill and disarmament would hire a French girl to act as a spy and deliver military information against her native land, has been the predominant emotion of people and press toward the case of Marie Monell, alias Marie Monell, under arrest for espionage.

The arrest took on more importance this evening, when two British blue-jackets, known as Oliver Phillips and James, had been the predominant emotion of people and press toward the case of Marie Monell, under arrest for espionage.

Girl Thought Amateur
The girl's confession seemed at first to the police to be entirely too willing. To them she appeared as an amateur spy, who had obtained the notions of her work from the moving pictures. She told of her trips to St. Nazaire, Bordeaux, Avy, Cuers, Pierrefeu and San Raphael—the last three aviation centres—as if she greatly relished her experiences.

The information she acquired is said by French authorities to be quite inoffensive.

Son's Death Kills Mother; Wife's Prostrates Husband

FERNIE, Dec. 7.—Mrs. G. G. Henderson, wife of ex-Mayor Henderson of this city, died suddenly in the Fernie Hospital just shortly after noon today, following a heart attack precipitated by the news an hour previous that her eldest son, Jack, was seriously ill at New Westminster and not expected to recover.

Mr. Henderson was out when the telegram containing the news was delivered to the home and Mrs. Henderson went out to look for him. When in front of the fire hall, the heart attack came suddenly upon her and she fell to the ground. She was speedily rushed to the hospital, but was found to be beyond human aid and she passed away without regaining consciousness.

When Mr. Henderson was found and the news of his son's serious illness and his wife's collapse was told to him, he also collapsed and is now suffering terribly from the shock.

A telegram has since been received from New Westminster stating that Jack has died, but the news has not yet been imparted to Mr. Henderson. The Hendersons are well-known old-timers of this city, having resided here for nearly thirty years.

Dies of Injuries
NEW WESTMINSTER, Dec. 7.—John Henderson, of Fernie, a patient at a sanatorium here, fell from a third story window Sunday night and died today of his injuries.

Bachelor Frogs Sing Like Romeo, Claims Scientist

LONDON, Dec. 7.—The love song of the frog is rendered much after the fashion of Romeo employed in enticing Juliet to the balcony. Listening the scene to most any pond or marsh, the principals strive for the same effect.

A fine young bull frog "who would a-wooing go" squats in a clump of reeds or on a bank, Dr. Kingsley Noble, the American scientist, told the London Zoological Society, and inflates his throat until it resembles the dew-lap of an operatic tenor.

"The song works like magic," the scientist said. "Within a short time the lady frog appears and will approach the source of the enchanting melody, as if trying to pretend that it was all because of idle curiosity. But if the kinging ceases, the lady frog stops perfectly still. More bull frog music will lure her on once again."

League Order To Pay Sofia Angers Greece

Bulgarian Invasion Justified, Athens Spokesman Declares at Geneva—Objection Raised to Indemnity

Greeks Put Forth Counter Demands

Commission Partisan, Delegate Claims—Hellenic Version of Clash Unheard—Court May Get Dispute

GENEVA, Dec. 7.—Greece invoked the League of Nations today to prove that she was justified in invading Bulgaria.

Displaying unexpected resistance to the special commission's recommendations against Greece in connection with the recent Balkan conflict, the Greek former Foreign Minister, M. Rentsis, not only objected to the payment of the reparations to Bulgaria fixed by the commission, but demanded that the council of the League of Nations ask Bulgaria to pay to Greece $750,000.

Mr. Rentsis accused the commission of failing to hear the Greek side of the controversy while conducting its inquiry and asserted that if the council approved the commission's findings, Greece would probably appeal to the world court of justice to determine whether reparations could be imposed without being based on an impartial inquiry.

Lord Birkenhead Ceases Contributing to Press

LONDON, Dec. 7.—Premier Baldwin, who has become a frequent contributor to the House of Commons today as to whether he had received assurance from Lord Birkenhead as to when the creation of the buildings, running to some $1,740,000 in all.

The Minister took the House through the circumstances that led up to the first group of buildings being completed, the opening of classes in the building erected on the Vancouver General Hospital's area for a T.E. ward, the provisions for the hospital's land, down to 1922, when the work of constructing the balance of the buildings commenced.

Executioners Get Own Turn in Russia

Fifteen Arrested by Soviet Authorities on Charges of Slaying Revolutionaries

MOSCOW, Dec. 7.—A reminder of how a revolution can become a hunt was provided today by the arrest of fifteen former executioners under the Czarist regime, charged with having strangled to death 500 revolutionaries. The evidence against them, as set forth in the local press, says that they received from $10 to $50 for each execution, and that one of them, a priest named Romanoff, who officiated at the hangings, received $1.50 for each prayer on the gallows.

The place of execution is said to have been in the cellar of a private house. There was a large table, and on it a chair. Attached to the ceiling was a stout rope from which the victims were suspended when the chair was thrust from under them. Their bodies were then taken secretly to a cemetery nearby.

Irish Agreement Goes Before Dail

Test of Strength in Dublin House Indicates Government Still Has Upper Hand

DUBLIN, Dec. 7.—The agreement recently entered into at London by the British Government and representatives of the Free State and Ulster, having to do with the Irish Boundary, came up in the Dail Eireann today, and the bill to amend the Anglo-Irish treaty to conform with the new agreement passed its first reading. The Dail was crowded for the important debate.

President Cosgrave's hope to have the bill pass its second reading today was frustrated by the obstructive tactics of the Laborites, Tom Johnson, and the fact that a large number of deputies wished to speak.

An opportunity to gauge the relative strength of the parties on the agreement was afforded, however, when Johnson moved adjournment. This was opposed by President Cosgrave, and a division being challenged. Johnson's motion was defeated 55 to 25.

Elected Mayor of Saskatoon
SASKATOON, Dec. 7.—Russell Wilson, pioneer of Saskatoon, and president of the Saskatchewan Agricultural Societies' Association, was elected mayor of Saskatoon by acclamation, when nominations closed today. It was the first time in the city's history that a mayor had been elected to his first term by acclamation.

Canadian Lumber King Lies at Death's Door

MR. JOHN R. BOOTH

OTTAWA, Dec. 8.—The condition of John R. Booth, aged ninety-eight, multi-millionaire lumber king and railroadier, here, was so critical early this morning that it was said that his death might be expected at any moment. He lapsed into unconsciousness yesterday afternoon, and all hopes were given up for his recovery.

The lumber king has been confined to his home since early in November, but the illness only became acute Saturday, just a gradual weakening brought on by old age.

Sunken Tug's Crew Marooned on Barge

TAMPA, Fla., Dec. 7.—The crew of the tug O. Walla are drifting about helplessly in the gulf on the barge Altama, following the mysterious sinking of the tug Friday night.

The three-masted schooner Santa Rosa is in Lower Tampa Bay to distress. It was reported here today.

The tugboat cutter Tallapoosa and the tug James Dougherty have gone to the rescue.

Final Cost of University Will Be $4,229,000

Minister of Finance Reviews History of Construction of Buildings at Point Grey

$2,000,000 Loan Asked

The final cost to the Province of British Columbia of the University buildings will be $4,229,000, according to the Minister of Finance, who gave the history of the construction, since the inception of the idea that a university would be constructed.

"I think the time is opportune," said Dr. MacLean, "for a review of the history of the construction of the buildings. The first official letter dealing with the construction is dated 1911, when a contract was let for the clearing of some fifty acres at a cost of $200 an acre, a total expenditure of $10,000. The next in the appointment of Messrs. Shas and Thompson as architects. In 1913, the board of governors, at the request of the Government, submitted proposals for the erection of the buildings, running to some $1,740,000 in all."

The Minister took the House through the circumstances that led up to the first group of buildings being completed, the opening of classes in the building erected on the Vancouver General Hospital's area for a T.E. ward, the provisions for the hospital's land, down to 1922, when the work of constructing the balance of the buildings commenced.

There were several requirements immediately necessary, such as the fire brigade equipment. The land immediately adjoining the campus would be sold, and they intended to establish a model town near there. They also required money to keep the campus in condition, such things as

Storm Bursts in House When Opposition Men Challenge Supply Vote

Opposition Leader, Twice Ruled Out of Order, Twice Divides Legislature on Demand That His Honor Be Made Aware of Premier's Letter to University Contractor After Parliament Had Convened

Mr. Pooley Gives Notice of Intent To Obstruct Passage of Estimates

A STORMY scene marked the presentation of a statement by Mr. R. H. Pooley, Conservative leader, in the Legislature last night, setting out the reasons why the Opposition members would vote against supply, and demanding that the notice of his Honor the Lieutenant-Governor be called to the action of Premier Oliver in issuing a letter promising payment of University accounts after the Legislature was in session.

Time and time again the Opposition leader was ruled out of order by the chairman, Mr. H. G. Perry, Prince George, in the request of members of the Government benches, backed by the Labor members and Mr. David A. Stoddart, Provincial Party member. Finally he managed to explain that the Conservatives would fight the passing of supply for His Majesty on the grounds that the constitution had been broken and the Audit Act contravened.

The vote that was presented first when the committee on supply convened was that dealing with legislation. Mr. Pooley rose and announced that he wished to make a statement. He proceeded to explain that the incidents of the university financing, but had not gone far when Hon. Dr. MacLean rose to a point of order and declared that the Opposition leader must confine his remarks to the subject of the vote. There followed a wordy argument, in which Mr. A. M. Manson took part, quoting authorities.

"Will Break You," Says Mr. Pooley To Premier's Men
AT 2 o'clock this morning Mr. Pooley and his Conservative followers in the Provincial House were still challenging every estimate as it was presented in Committee of Supply.

At that hour it seemed likely that the session might last all night. The intention of the Opposition to obstruct the voting of supply had been frankly intimated by Mr. Pooley earlier in the evening. Although twice ruled out of order by the chairman, Mr. Pooley succeeded in reading to the House a statement in which he challenged the action of Premier Oliver in writing a letter to the E. J. Ryan Contracting Company pledging the Government in connection with expenditures on construction of the University of B.C.

"I will break the Government on this issue yet," retorted Mr. Pooley, when Government members taunted him.

Ruled Out of Order
Mr. Pooley insisted that his statement had to do with the vote as it affected the salary of the Premier. Again several members of the Government benches were on their feet at once protesting, as Mr. Pooley attempted to continue his statement.

Finally Chairman Perry ruled him out of order, declaring that he must confine his remarks to the subject of the vote. Mr. Pooley appealed from the chair. Mr. R. Spackman, Buckham was sent for and put the question: "Shall the chair be sustained?"

The chair was sustained by a vote of 27 to 19, the House dividing with Messrs. A. MacE. Creery and G. A. Walkem, of the Provincial Party, voting with the seventeen Conservatives against the chair.

Mr. Pooley again attempted to present his statement, declaring that he demanded his rights and the rights that were inherent in the Commonsense, that of criticizing the voting of supply. Included in the vote was the seasonal indemnities of the members, and he particularly wished to attack that of the Premier. If the committee would listen to his statement they would see that he was justified in his remarks, and that he was dealing directly with the supply vote before the committee.

Bill to Provide P.G.E. Sinking Fund Criticized

Repayments Should Be Spread Over Longer Period Than Seventeen Years, Says Mr. Pooley

Second Reading Is Given

Hon. Dr. MacLean's bill providing for the establishment of a sinking fund to retire $20,000,000, or forty per cent of the debt of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway, 1915, was the object of considerable criticism before it was given second reading in the Legislature yesterday. Mr. R. H. Pooley, Opposition Leader, pointed out that in the various Budgets presented by the Finance Minister, Hon. Dr. MacLean, constant refusal had been made to recognize the P.G.E. bonds covered by the present bill, as a debt.

The Minister had refused, he said, to include the $20,000,000, or forty per cent of the debt, in the sinking fund at a cost of $325,000 a year to the taxpayers, was acknowledging the liability.

Mr. Pooley believed it would be better business on the part of the Government, and would make conditions easier for the people, if the repayments were spread over a longer period than seventeen years. He recalled that, under the old Conservative Government, the Province had been protected by hard-and-fast agreements with the road constructors, the firm of Foley, Welch & Stewart. The Liberal Government, on coming into power, however, had seen fit to release the contractors from their agreements and had itself gone into the railroad business. The result had been disastrous for the people of British Columbia.

Fresh Gale Imperils Drifting Freighter

West O'Rowa Still Awaits Help—One Ship Standing By, But Two Are Needed

BREMERTON, Wash., Dec. 7.—Rudderless and helpless in an eighty-mile gale and battered by mountainous seas that are increasing hourly, as is the wind, the steamship West O'Rowa is once again in a critical condition, an official radio dispatch, received here tonight from Cordova, said.

As the waves sweep over the deck the ship lurches badly to leeward with tons of high deck cargo straining the leashes. So far the deck cargo has remained intact, but fears that the load might give way under the severe battering received were expressed by the crew.

The steamship Dewey is standing by, but all her hawsers have been carried away in a vain attempt to tow the crippled ship. Far the deck Both vessels are now awaiting arrival of the steamship West Holbrook, bound in Portland from Japan. The West Holbrook will attempt to tow the West O'Rowa, with the Dewey secured to the stern of the latter to serve as a rudder.

roads, sidewalks. The sum estimated to cover expenditure for 1925 would be $1,229,000. The buildings would be fire hall, drying shed, incinerator, sidewalks, roads and various work in and about the buildings, estimated to cost $100,000.

The Minister said they could not come to an agreement with the municipality of Point Grey in regard to the provision of gas mains, water storage, etc.

Mr. George Walkem, Point Grey
"That is not right. There was an agreement, but the Minister of Lands arbitrarily upset it."

Dr. Maclean: "Well, apparently, they got to the stage of having 'conversations' on the matter." Continuing, the Minister reviewed the activities of the Public Works and the Lands Departments in connection with the expenditure hitherto authorized and said that the aggregate cost of the University buildings would be $4,229,000, from the time they began the work. Their immediate request of Parliament was for authority for a loan of about $2,000,000.

Cannot Fix Any Time

In connection with the Lands portion of the loan, it was proposed also to have a revolving fund, which would be kept recruited from funds repaid to the Treasury. It was anticipated that what they were asking now would meet the immediate requirements of the University.

An honorable member: "For how long?"

The Minister: "Who can say? Who would have thought, when we opened in 1915, with 300 students, that we would have 1,400 in 1925? It is impossible to forecast."

Dr. Maclean concluded by assuring the House that the interest and sinking fund charges on the University and the Public Works loans had been provided for on the estimate.

Mr. H. R. Pooley, Equilmalt, leader of the Opposition, secured the adjournment of the debate.

French to Bear Heavy Taxation If Bill Is Passed

Tobacco, Alcohol, Income,
Business Profits, Railroad
Fares and Telegraph Rates
All Targets of Minister

PARIS, Dec. 7.—An increase in the price of tobacco and alcohol ranging from fifty to 100 per cent is expected to form an important part of the eight million francs additional revenue for which M. Louchour's financial bill provides.

M. Louchour outlined his bill at a cabinet council today, preparatory to laying it before a full council of ministers tomorrow. He said the full eight million francs would only be available in the 1927 budget as some leniency must be granted the taxpayer in view of the burdens they have already borne.

An increase in railroad fares and telegraph and telephone rates is also reported to be a part of the additional revenues.

The creation of an amortization fund and stern repression of evasion in the payment of taxes, a general increase in the income tax, and other profits, are other items of the bill which the minister has about ready to submit to parliament.

"I know that I shall immediately become the most unpopular man in France," M. Louchour told the correspondents this evening, "but one must have courage to do his duty. When France is safely out of its present difficulties Frenchmen will thank me."

Premier Tells Why His Credit Letter Given

the contracting company from the proceedings of the House.

Premier's Statement

The Legislature listened closely to an explanation given by Premier Oliver of his action in giving letters of credit to the contractor in connection with the money owing him in connection with the University contract.

"It is quite true," said the Premier, "that there were over-commitments. It is also true, quite true, that the Government was not aware of them at the time. I deny that the Government had any knowledge of them at all. In that regard, the statements of Opposition members are not at all in accordance with fact. Any sane Government would have preferred, as we would have preferred, to have come to the House and ask for authorization of all money required for a public undertaking, rather than have to meet the position that has arisen around us now."

Major Burde: "When you say 'the evil day?' (Opposition hear, hear.)

The Premier: "There is something in that. I am not an evil day for the Opposition just the same. (Liberal hear, hear.) However, we don't feel like shedding tears over it."

Major Burde: "You say 'the evil day?' (Opposition hear, hear.)

Willing to Abide by Decision

The Premier: "I have nothing to hide in the matter. I am not a contractor. I am a member of the House, drawing $2,000 seasonal indemnity."

Mr. Pooley—Well, is not the Premier a member of this House, drawing $2,000 seasonal indemnity?

The Opposition leader managed finally to state that the Lieutenant-Governor had committed the voting of "supply, including seasonal indemnity for members," and thus having referred to the vote before the committee was permitted to proceed with the statement that the Premier had given a letter to the Ryan Contracting Company, dated November 3, 1925, promising payment of accounts with 7 per cent interest and had thus contravened the Audit Act and the Constitution Act.

On a subsequent vote that for supply for the Premier's office, he again tendered his statement and was permitted to read it, as his attack was directed at the Premier.

Premier's Memorandum

The statement set out the details of the financing of the over-commitments on the University, calling particular attention to a memo attached to a copy of the Premier's first letter of October 8 to the Ryan Company. This memo was signed by the Deputy Minister of Public Works, and was directed to the Chief Clerk and Assistant of the Public Works Department. It authorized him to issue similar letters "in lieu of cheque" for further accounts of the contractors.

A second letter to the Ryan Company was issued, declared Mr. Pooley, according to the instructions contained in the memo. It was signed by the Premier. It was issued on November 2, the day after the Legislature was convened by His Honor. In his address from the Throne, the Lieutenant-Governor committed the University over-commitments to the Legislature, and said the Opposition leader, even the Lieutenant-Governor was powerless to deal with the situation.

Victoria Audience Rapturously Applauds Anna Case in Recital

Royal Victoria Theatre Scene of Demonstrative Enthusiasm When Singer Closes Programme of Amazing Beauty—Encores Graciously Given

The Royal Victoria Theatre was the scene of an enthusiastic demonstration last evening on the occasion of the Anna Case recital. Beautiful alike to the ear and the eye, she is a radiant memory whom Victoria will long to hear and see again when the Ladies' Musical or other equally beneficent power sees fit to bring her back again. Both by her art and personality she took all hearts by storm.

Anna Case's art has marvelous qualities. It is not only that the whole gamut of her voice is drenched with beauty, but that every single note is a thing of surpassing joy, but there is behind it all a superb artistry, a keen perception of the art in the song itself, a delicious appreciation of the picture, poem or drama folded away within the words and music. The listener was held breathless by a versatility which gave variety and fresh interest to every number in a two hours' long programme, a programme which was admirably arranged to play up the contrasting lights of voice and picture, poem or drama folded away within the words and music. BANK OF MONTREAL

A banking institution which has been built up on the basis of a perennially sound and conservative policy becomes a national asset as well as a source of satisfaction to its shareholders. The Bank of Montreal, which has just issued its annual statement for the year ending October 31, is such an institution. It is emblematic of the financial practice and credit of the Dominion and through a process of merging with other institutions it is better able all the time to meet the demands upon its services. That bank, now one of the greatest there is in the extent of capital and business, has assets that amount to $755,147,876. It has deposits of $600,000,000. In the promotion of industrial and commercial undertakings it has advanced amounts in the Dominion aggregating $225,000,000. The profits for the past fiscal year represent a sum of $4,604,962, and out of this amount it has been possible to pay dividends at the rate of 14 per cent on a capital of $29,916,700, supported by a reserve of the same amount.

The Bank of Montreal has gathered strength during the year. It has increased a clientele already great. Its affairs are conducted with vision, and always with special reference to the development of the Dominion wherein its principal interests are centered. The directing ability of Sir Frederick Williams Taylor, the General Manager, is an asset of the highest importance to its progress, and in that progress is reflected the financial strength of Canada.

EDUCATIONAL STATISTICS

In their report upon the Provincial school system the Survey Commissioners have been at pains to furnish the public with a picture of our educational arrangements partly by means of long columns of figures, diagrams and graphs, and partly by way of verbal description. In any such picture the human element is no doubt the most important. The school registers contain the names of nearly 100,000 pupils. They are credited with intelligence quotients, which on the whole are distinctly higher than those of their cousins and more distant relatives across the international boundary. In actual achievement as well as in native capacity and high schools for both elementary and solid satisfaction.

A good deal of interest centres about the three thousand teachers in charge of all these pupils. It is a legitimate interest for a variety of reasons. One of these is that the public must look after the pay roll. The sum paid out in salaries is no trifle. It appears that the ladies outnumber the men three to one, and the unmarried teachers outnumber the married four to one. In a group of twenty representative teachers the age records would run as follows: One would be less than twenty years old, eight would be between twenty and twenty-five, six between twenty-five and thirty, five above thirty and five above thirty-five. Classified according to birthplace, they would form four groups. Those born in the Province would number six, those born in other provinces of Canada another six, those born in the Old Country five, and those from the United States and elsewhere, three. Classified by length of teaching service three of a representative twenty have taught less than two years, six have taught more than two years and less than five, five have taught from five to ten years, two from ten to twenty, and two for more than twenty years. In point of scholastic standing our group of twenty representative teachers would form four classes. Those with university degrees are three in number. Five have first and ten have second class certificates. One holds but a third class diploma. The salary record shows that three out of twenty are in receipt of less than $1,000 annually, fourteen have between $1,000 and $2,000, and three have more than $2,000.

The housing of the school population is described in a paragraph which deserves to be quoted at length. "Some of the pupils are in modern buildings, as complete as are to be found on the American continent. Some are in comfortable frame buildings in small towns or amid idyllic rural surroundings. Many are in remote and lovely places beside a lake, under a towering mountain capped with snow, or on an arid plateau where all vegetation is brown and dusty. Some are on beautiful but lonely islands in the Pacific, where the settler is part farmer, part fisherman, and part lumberman. Some are on steep mountain sides in 'company towns' where all chimneys of pulp mill or smelter form the centre of a busy industrial life. Some are close to the water on an arm of the sea, which is the outlet of a salmon river and the site of a canning factory, and some stand on ground over coal mines. Some have ideal surroundings, but the school buildings themselves are primitive and very small. Many are built of logs. Some are not larger than 15 by 18 feet with a ceiling just above your head. Some have attractive grounds, some have bare and unattractive yards, and some are built on rocks. In a number of them the children show unmistakable signs of Indian blood. Some of these buildings are tidy and clean inside, and some sadly in need of paint, whitewash and soap." The Colonist is pleased to rescue this description from burial in a Government report.

WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION

The B. C. Executive of the Trades and Labor Council is asking for amendments to the Workmen's Compensation Act and some of those amendments possess merit. One contention made is that a workman should be permitted, in a case of dispute with the Workmen's Compensation Board, to appeal from the Medical Referee's decision to an independent tribunal. That tribunal is proposed to consist of three members of the Medical Council of the Province, one to be chosen by the workmen, one by the Compensation Board and the third by these appointees. In effect what is being asked is that medical men of high standing be given a voice as to whether or not a man is cured. As matters now stand the Compensation Board claims that only one-tenth of one per cent constitutes disputed cases. On the basis of this the Board asserts that there should be no objection to the amendment it proposes.

The fact is that there have been cases in which there has been a definite difference of opinion between the Medical Referee of the Compensation Board and other medical men. In other words men have been pronounced cured by the Medical Referee, and, therefore, no longer are amenable to the benefits of the Board, who have been pronounced not cured by other medical men. At present the Medical Referee's finding is final. The attitude of Labor is one that should receive sympathetic consideration from the Legislature, for, at present, too much power is invested in an individual in the matter of deciding when medical benefits should end.

There is another issue of the Workmen's Compensation Board and its regulations should be reviewed by the Legislature. That body has built up a large reserve fund. It is in a position now to increase the benefits which it dispenses under the Act. It has been continually reaching out since its inception to draw within its orbit the employees of different trades and professions. It has subscribers now from employment where the risk of accident is negligible. These subscribers simply swell the fund for the benefit of others. There are certain forms of employment which might well be relieved from the Workmen's Compensation tax to which they are subjected. The point for the moment, however, is that the benefits of the Act should be on a larger percentage basis than at present. The reserve fund of the Board should be set at some definite limit.

The Ottawa Journal, commenting on the fact that the Prime Minister and Mr. Cardin met Sir Clifford Sifton and Mr. John W. Diefenbaker, of the Manitoba Free Press, in a Toronto hotel by appointment, when two discussed legislation peculiarly affecting the districts represented by Progressives, says: "That's the way to govern a country. Old timers like Sir John Macdonald and Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and even Mr. King's own grandfather, had an idea that it was a job for Cabinets and Parliaments, but that was in the old fashioned days when Governments went off, silly like, and resigned, if they didn't get elected by the people. Mr. King has no use for that. The thing to do, if you want to remain Premier, is to let the people have their say, and then, after they've said it, meet a few friends in a hotel and arrange things for yourself. They don't need to be friends elected by the people. All they need to be is people who can control the votes of people elected by the people."

Writing on the campaign for the buying of home products, Le Nouvelliste, of Three Rivers, says: "There is an old saying that a prophet is without honor in his own country. The remark may be applied to trade equally as well as to individuals. There are people who believe that the best bargains may be obtained by purchasing merchandise that has been manufactured outside of Canada; but why permit the goods of another country to come into unfair competition with goods of the Dominion? The purchase of foreign products can only hurt our own markets, reduce the purchasing power of the Canadian dollar, and favor the exodus of our workmen. It is, therefore, the duty of patriotic Canadians to enhance the home markets by purchasing home products in preference to foreign goods."

Mr. Charles Woodward (Vancouver) in his contribution to the Budget debate, is quoted as saying: "The Finance Minister is pretty strong on taxation. He is always looking round to see what he can tax. I don't know what is going to happen if a half is not voted." Mr. Woodward is himself a contributor to this state of affairs because he is a political supporter of the party of taxation.

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

An authority on domestic science—not the kind of domestic science taught in the public schools of this continent—declares that the French are a dying race. This authority declares that the days of the French as a nation are numbered, and he gives the French nation merely a few hundred more years to live. A few centuries are neither here nor there from a strictly scientific point of view.

We are glad the French people have been given a few hundred years of grace, for the French people are a most interesting people, and they do everything they set about doing in a most interesting way. The French people do not do things as the British people do things. That is probably the reason why the ways of the French people are so interesting to us.

As an illustration of the differences in disposition and temperament between the French people and the British people, consider the manner in which the French people view their big debt to Great Britain and the way in which the French people conduct their political affairs.

When the British people as a people are under obligations to anyone they are never content until they have discharged their obligations. The British Government is paying off its enormous debt to the United States. If the British Government had haggled and procrastinated it might have secured better terms of payment; but Britain has a reputation to maintain in the realms of money and credit, and the British Government promptly agreed to the terms of payment imposed by the Government of the United States and immediately proceeded about the business of "liquidating" its obligations.

The taxpayers of Britain will grumble about the rate of taxation. The British taxpayer always has grumbled about the rate of taxation. Grumbling is a tradition with him. He will grumble more bitterly than ever perhaps when he learns that the taxpayers of other nations, although they are paying comparatively little in taxes compared with what he is paying, will be accorded preferential treatment by the Government of the United States when the time comes for a final settlement of accounts. But the British taxpayer will pay—and probably in his heart he will be rather proud of the fact that his position as a taxpayer is altogether different from the positions of the other taxpayers of the world.

The French people are in no hurry about meeting their financial obligations to Great Britain; but in that respect it is but fair to note that none of the other nations of Europe are rushing in haste to meet their obligations to Great Britain. There seems to be a general consensus of European opinion that the resources of Great Britain are unlimited and illimitable. The obligations of Great Britain to the United States were incurred on behalf of the menaced nations of Europe; but that fact does not affect the indifference of the saved nations of Europe to the position of Great Britain and the burdens of the British taxpayer. Britain has voluntarily reduced the indebtedness of the saved nations of Europe to a mere fraction of their original proportions, but that self-denying action did not appreciably hasten the desire of the debtor nations to settle up and re-establish their credit. The nations have repeatedly declared their intention of paying, but they have not yet begun to pay.

The political affairs of France appear to be quite as unsettled as the financial affairs of that interesting country. The representatives in the French Legislative Chamber think as little about changing a Government as they do of changing their garments. French Premiers, to their credit, be it noted, do not appear very anxious to retain power. In that respect the French Premiers are somewhat different from the Premier of another country that need not be mentioned. Governments in France have been ousted and installed with monotonous regularity during the past month or two. This habit of the French entails some hardship upon the working journalists of the world, for every conscientious newspaper man considers it his duty to fix the names of the members of a government in his mind. This burden has been imposed upon unfortunate journalists because the members of the French Chamber instantly turn up any Government that purports imposing taxation upon the people of France that will provide sufficient money to meet the obligations of the country. Any expedient is resorted to, even the dangerous experiment of inflating the currency, to avoid for a time the necessity of taking honest measures to honorably meet long over-pie obligations.

We are not alarmed by the statement of a scientific authority that the French are a dying race, and that the French nation is doomed to decay. We believe France will live long enough to settle her debts and establish her credit. If a vital crisis should develop there is a viable branch of the once powerful French race established in Canada. The population of Quebec is increasing rapidly, and that population is about four-fifths of French blood. At the present time the relations between the people of Old France and the people of New France are not very cordial, for reasons which are obvious and need not be discussed; but if Old France were in real extremity we know New France would readily suggest a transfusion of blood, and thus the vitality of the nation would be re-established.

Where Men Wear Flowers in Their Hair

Polynesia has long been a land of dreams and longings to most people of Western lands. Poets and artists have combined to fill our imagination with vague dreams of beauty, of brilliant birds and beautiful people with lithe, supple brown bodies. The vision of these islands of the Pacific are usually surprised to find the natives dressed in manufactured clothes. They have adopted the manufactured cotton pants of Western civilization although they wear them in a manner all their own. They drape these strips of material about their bodies, sunset on that one amply just as they wore the tapa of their own manufacture, in years gone by.

The natives have adopted the trousers of civilization as a general rule, although they wear little or nothing else. But they retain the custom of the native Polynesian, and wear their trousers with a flower behind the ear.

This rapidly vanishing people have a high degree of civilization. They are in civilized communities. They have a high conception of justice and honor, and an exceptional capacity for thought and imaginative creation.

The most important staple food of the Polynesians is "poi," a sticky, yeasty, doughy substance, made from the root of the taro. The roots are pounded into a paste and then baked somewhat. It is finally served, wrapped in the green leaves of the banana plant.

Breadfruit is another of the staple foods and there has long been a custom among the Polynesians of planting a breadfruit tree on the hillside of each village. The breadfruit tree, with child, that there may be food enough for him.

The spots on the sun and their possible effect on terrestrial weather have been much under discussion of late, and it is interesting to note that the last recorded observation of these phenomena was made on December 8, in the year 1590. According to Hakluyt's Voyages, the observation was made on that day by James Welsh, of the ship Richard Arundel, when sailing off the coast of Guinea. Welsh is said to have seen a great black spot on the sun, and found the same appearance next morning. Although many others observed similar phenomena, they did not become the subject of scientific remark until about 1611. Many descriptions and theories have centered about the spots, so the times recorded observation of these phenomena was made on December 8, in the year 1590. Sumas Men State Position On Taxation

Maximum Amount They Can Stand Is $6 an Acre, Agricultural Committee Is Informed

Protests Heard for Compassionate Aid

Farmers Did Not Know of Excess Figures Till 1923—Helpless, They Could Do Nothing

The maximum taxation that can be borne by the Sumas lands is $6 an acre, according to witnesses who appeared before the Agriculture Committee of the Legislature yesterday morning to protest against the enactment of a bill to affirm the assessment of the Drying Commissioners on the property, by the Drying Commissioners. On behalf of the land owners, Mr. David Whitehead stated that the proposed legislation would shut off the appeals that the farmers had lodged with the court. Premier Oliver explained the situation, stating that this contention was only partially correct.

Mr. Whitehead: "No doubt if this bill passes it will be all off with the appeals now before the courts. It may be necessary for us to ask our rights to be safeguarded, but this will be argued later."

Premier Oliver replied that while the proposed legislation would validate the assessment on the whole area, there would be nothing to prevent individual owners going to the courts with appeals on their holdings.

Mr. Rolf Bruhn, member for Salmon Arm, asked the Premier to explain a statement he made, Friday, to the effect that the committee could not make any recommendations.

Premier Oliver: "The point is that there is an impasse. The assessment levied was not according to law and without it everything would be at a standstill. The position is this: There were certain Crown lands that the Dominion Government signified could be transferred to the Province for reclamation purposes. This was done, but there was no money for the Province to convey them to the Drying Commissioners. The bill will give this authority. It might develop that some changes, and I took the position that the committee had no right or powers to make recommendations which would involve the expenditure of public money. If any evidence we are attempting to give the land owners a chance to state their position and establish a case if they can."

Brigadier-General W. W. Odium: "Will anything happen to us if we do bring in a recommendation?"

Premier Oliver laughingly replied that he did not know of any penalties which might be inflicted.

Mr. J. W. Jones: "We call to the evidence and do as we like."

36 Is Maximum

Reeve C. A. Lamson, of Sumas, stated that the maximum taxation that the lands of the district could bear, in his opinion, was $6 an acre, and that he was willing to pay that amount as recompense for the farmer, was $6 an acre. It cost $14 a ton to raise oats, he said.

Mr. David Whitehead: "I might state that the position is that the farmers are all glad to have the lands dyked and are quite willing to pay the maximum tax that can stand, but they cannot go beyond the possible load they can carry, and they ask relief above that."

In reply to Premier Oliver, Reeve Lamson stated he had sold his last year for $25.60 a ton on board the cars. The previous year the selling price had been between $20 and $22. It would cost $20.40 a ton to raise oats if he allowed labor charges. He stated that good lands had recently sold in the district for $15 an acre, which was all that could be obtained because of the high taxation charges.

May Have to Quit

Mr. Edward McPhail explained that he was farming twenty acres of his own and forty acres that he rented. His place was one of the farms under observation by the extension department of the University of British Columbia and he produced figures compiled by the university staff showing production costs. The cost estimated for the production of a ton of oats tallied closely with those quoted by Reeve Lamson. Any tax in excess of $6 an acre would prove to be a burden, he said.

"My land is about the average," he explained, "and on it I have made a living for myself and family. The rates assessed against me amount to $14.44 and if this continues then I will have to leave. I am not a farmer, I admit quite freely, but when land is burdened with $110 an acre capital charge it is more than I can bear. If you are going to put a bunch of Chinamen on it, all right, for they may be able to live there, but I cannot do so."

In answer to a question by General Odium, the witness said that before the dyke had been constructed he had been offered $250 an acre for his land, but now he could not get half of that for it.

Mr. James F. Cook, testified, saying that in his opinion the maximum that the land could carry was $5 an acre.

Will Sell at Cost

Mr. Angus Campbell, who had been a member of the advisory board which had been formed in the early stages of the undertaking, but was later found to be without powers, said that $6 an acre was the maximum amount that his experience showed could be charged for the land taxes. He had been farming in the district for twenty-seven years. He could not say exactly what his lands were worth, but stated that the last purchase he had made was in 1914, years ago. He paid $113 an acre and had improved the property. He was quite willing to sell for what he paid.

Premier Oliver: "If $6 an acre is all that you can stand then it must mean that you made a bad bargain. Does it not mean that you would get less than six per cent interest on your money?"

Mr. Campbell: "We farmers have to get along with less than six per cent."

Witness explained that the farmers

Treatment Announced For High Blood Pressure

Of St. Catharines, who this week announced further successful experimentation with his remarkable new treatment for high blood pressure.

did not know that the estimate of $1,800,000 was being exceeded until May, 1923, when they were informed that there had been an investment to that date of $2,200,000 and that the total cost would probably go to $2,600,000. It eventually approximated $2,400,000.

He explained that the farmers could not do anything. The advisory board had no statutes, and that in any event they were so far into the hole that if the work stopped they would be ruined while the continuation meant trouble as well, so they did not protest but let the work go ahead, being helpless in the matter.

Minister's Experience

Hon. E. D. Harrow, Minister of Agriculture, called to the stand, said that he had purchased seventy-nine acres of "B" class Sumas land in 1924, and in that year planted fifty-five acres with timothy and clover. As the land was newly broken his expectations were not great, but he had cleared operating expenses. In 1925, he had had the same acreage under timothy and clover and had harvested 112 tons of hay, besides leaving six acres from which he had threshed one and one-quarter tons of timothy seed.

From twenty acres of second-growth clover, he had harvested seventy-three wagon loads which, according to estimate, would produce 300 pounds of red clover seed per acre.

He calculated that his crop this year, on the basis of hay alone would return him 15.1 per cent on his capital investment on a basis of $100 purchase price per acre, and $125 covering charges, or $225 per acre. If his crop of clover returned him 300 tons per acre, his profit for the season's operations would be twenty-six per cent on his total investment, he said.

His Experience Exceptional

Mr. Whitehead: "That is not the ordinary experience of Sumas farmers."

"Apparently not," answered the Minister.

"Will that sort of thing be a usual occurrence at Sumas?"

"Think it will be."

"Where will you get your market if all the Sumas farmers grow timothy and clover?" asked Mr. Whitehead.

Mr. Harrow: "The Sumas land is particularly adapted for such crops and there is a big market for red clover seed and timothy seed, also for hay."

The Minister explained that he was not satisfied to grow merely hay crops and intimated that he intended to go in for more or less mixed farming.

Replies Evaded

Mr. Harrow was unwilling to make an estimate. The land was well worth $200 per acre, he said, but he could not say what the maximum taxation should be. He did not know what other men would say. Many of them were suffering because of lack of working capital compared to the quantity of land held.

"If $6 an acre was too high, but again evaded a direct reply."

Plan Roads For Reserve

Industrial Area Improvement Is Suggested to City Council by Provincial Officials

Improvement of the Honghees Reserve industrial area by the opening up of three new roads is contemplated by the Provincial Department of Lands which last night asked the City Council to bear the cost of surfacing the proposed thoroughfares.

The department will carry out the work of rough grading if the city will undertake to surface the following roads:

1. Kimta Road, between Western Canada Co-operative site and the Sidney Rubber Roofing Company site.
2. Tyse Road, between Johnson Street and Esquimalt Road.
3. Langford Street, between Esquimalt Road and Alton Street.

Provided that the city undertakes to improve Langford Street to the west of Alton Street, the construction of these roadways will furnish a direct route from the centre of the city to that portion of Victoria West adjacent to Craigflower Road.

The Provincial Government is prepared to undertake its part of the work in the beginning of the new year, the Council was informed.

The proposal was referred to the city engineer for report.

Missing Heir To Title Is Sought Here

Mr. Robert Leveson-Gower Is Sought as Heir to Ancient Scottish Honors—May Have Died Here

Mr. Robert Angus Neil Charles Leveson-Gower is being sought in Victoria today by Mr. Carr-Dodge, London solicitor, as the missing heir with reversionary interests in the Dukedom of Sutherland and the Earldom of Granville.

It is definitely known of the missing heir that he came to Canada to ranch in 1919. But that is all that is definitely known about him. It is thought that he has sojourned both in Kamloops and in this city.

"I've never seen the man I'm looking for," said Mr. Carr-Dodge, "but he has been described to me as a moral young Englishman of twenty-nine or thirty, exceedingly shy, with blue eyes and yellow hair."

Mr. Dodge has searched unavailingly for the missing heir in California. There, evidence was unearthed which has led to the belief that, if alive, he is in the Pacific Northwest rather than in the Pacific Southwest.

The solicitor's inquiries here yesterday discovered the theory, entertained by local people, that the missing man died here from the effects of war gas in 1920, and was buried in Ross Bay Cemetery. An official of the Veterans of France said last night that he had ascertained that a man of the name of Leveson-Gower had been interred in a soldier's grave in that cemetery in that year.

Another theory is that the missing man was teller in the Dominion Government Savings Bank here in 1918-1919. This man is said to have been married here and to have lived with his wife in the Craigflower district until his death in 1920.

Nearly 300 Elks and their friends participated in the memorial rites here and listened to a most appropriate oration delivered by Rev. F. A. P. From the dead, he said, should be obtained inspiration to carry on.

Loan Measure to Encourage Buildings

Government Plans Scheme to Aid Erection of Houses Around University

The measure authorizing the Government to lend money for the erection of dwellings in the University area, up to sixty per cent of the valuation of the buildings, was yesterday moved to its second reading in the Legislature at the instance of the Minister of Lands, Hon. T. D. Pattullo.

The minister also moved the second reading of the bill introduced for the administration of funds provided by the Legislature properly to administer Crown lands within municipalities.

The debate, carried on during the evening session on adjournment, saw much criticism levelled by Opposition forces against both bills, but particularly against the act to provide for the administration and disposition of certain Crown lands for the purpose of University endowment.

Hon. Mr. Manson declared that it was the intention of the Government to sell the townsite lands just as soon as possible, and the bill was a means of hastening that end. The Government had no intention of carrying on the administration of the "University City" indefinitely, but desired only to see the place well started. Any money already advanced, and money that would be advanced under authority of the bill, was, and would be well protected, he said.

Bill to Provide for P.G.E. Sinking Fund Criticized

Future Should Be Indicated
Mr. H. G. Perry (Port George) congratulated the Government on its method of meeting the P.G.E. debt situation. Mr. Pooley and other members of the Opposition had attacked the Government in previous sessions for failure to provide a sinking fund with which to retire the debt, and consequently, he could not understand their objection now that steps were being taken to coincide with their wishes. Personally, he said, he would have gone farther. He would have made the interest and sinking fund charges a first liability on the people of British Columbia, instead of meeting the charges through re-funding.

Mr. J. W. Jones (South Okanagan) considered that the Government should have brought in legislation clearing up the future of the P.G.E.

$2,250,000 to Be Borrowed for Road Building

Government's Loan Bills Explained by Minister of Finance Include $100,000 for Land Settlement

$75,000 in S. Okanagan

The Minister of Finance, at the outset of his speech on the second reading of the Government's loan bills, said that it was not intended to borrow for a longer period than the lifetime of the public work or undertaking proposed to be constructed. They proposed, in the first instance, to borrow for road building $2,250,000, repayable in a period of twenty-five years, at 4 1/2 per cent. In this connection, the Government did not propose to follow the impractical advice being tendered them—that they would confine their expenditure for such public works to current revenue. "Let us take, as an example, the Fraser Canyon transportation highway," he said. "That will cost $1,000,000. No province could set aside so much from consolidated revenue in any single year. A business enterprise, except in rare circumstances, never charges to ourselves the cost of a new building, but capitalizes it, as we do with public works."

Bridges Need Repairing

The annual amount of money that would be required for interest and sinking fund for the road-building allocation from the loan fund would be $11,400, continued the minister. He explained that a great many bridges were in need of repair or replacement, necessitating a large outlay of public funds. During the last six years roads and bridges had cost some $1,000,000, and the Government, involving annual interest and sinking fund charges of $339,000. Added to the interest and sinking fund charges entailed in the roads and bridges proportion of the present loan fund, this would make a total of $939,000 in all. The receipts from the motor vehicles and gasoline revenue totalled $1,281,000, and this amount, after paying off the aggregate sinking fund and interest charges, would leave a balance of $342,000 available for building and maintenance of roads and bridges.

To Make Revolving Fund

It was proposed to borrow $100,000 for land settlement purposes, continued the minister, and the Government proposed, in the present operation, to make it the last occasion on which they would borrow for that purpose. They would achieve this, he said, by making a revolving fund of $100,000, the proceeds of which would be paid back to the treasury.

I had tried everything without any relief, but I know, to-day, that I would have been a nervous wreck but for your wonderful

Fashions and Foibles

By Shirley Shaw

Loose panels give a fourfold flutter to a charming frock of powder blue georgette, suited to the holiday requirements of the best juvenile circles.

For matinee and musicals, for dancing class and Christmas parties, the sub-sub-dress requires a little frock to carry her through this most exciting holiday season. Georgette in poppy red, powder or flag blue, shades of rose, canary or citron yellow and the leaf and water greens, lends itself to the fluttering motion of the new animated silhouette. Velvet in dark green, crimson or pinkish beige with the loose panels of Georgette in the same color makes a charming frock. Crepe satin, flat crepe and Canton crepe are also smart with self-colored Georgette.

Big Bazaar Is Held By Esquimalt Guides

Mrs. W. C. Nichol Visits Guides and Brownies and Becomes Godmother of Doll

Esquimalt Guides and Brownies were honored by a visit from their Provincial commissioner, Mrs. W. C. Nichol, Saturday afternoon, at the bazaar held by them in the Church House, St. Paul's Garrison Church, an event which proved most successful, both socially and financially.

Miss Alice Pooley performed the opening ceremony, and at the conclusion of her bright address was presented with a beautiful bouquet by Guide Marguerite Elliott.

The Guides had a wonderful collection of needlework and novelties displayed on their fancy-work stall, in charge of Leader May Phillips and Eileen Thomas. Dainty ribbon goods, hand-painted calendars and etched articles were especially admired. Their skill as young housewives was demonstrated by their contributions of tempting cakes and delicious home-cooking stall, presided over by Leader Isabel Hunter and Dorothy Hornbrook. Leader Teeny Sadder and Valentine Ireland had in their care a "lucky dip" full of desirable treasures.

Needlework Excellent
The Brownies stall, in charge of Sisters Muriel Rudd, Peggy McDonald, Jean Hansen and Thelma Brown, was in three sections—needlework, cakes and candies. In all three substantial contributions had been made by kind friends, but surprisingly good work had been accomplished by the Brownies themselves, some pretty pieces of fancy work and dressed dolls being shown, done by girls as young as seven years of age. Really delicious candies were manufactured by them, and several cakes made by these small people were equal to any grown folk could turn out.

A feature of the Brownie display was a doll offered as a prize to the first person guessing its name. Mrs. Nichol graciously consented to play the part of godmother, and her choice of the name Alexandra, in memory of the late Queen Mother, was much applauded.

Mrs. Nichol entertained a large party at tea, which was served by the Guides, a musical programme being supplied by the Brownies, including piano solos by Phyllis Hadfield, Ruth Kinch and Muriel Rudd, and recitations by Lillian Elston. Mesdames Sadder, Scott, Warr and Phillips kindly assisted the girls by taking charge of the kitchen.

A Large Attendance
Guide officials present included, besides the Provincial commissioner, Miss Mercer, deputy Provincial commissioner, Mrs. Heiden Gillespie, Victoria commissioner, Mrs. Kinloch, district commissioner, Staff Captain Stewart, Williams and Miss Ryan. Misses Unwin, L. Bowron and M. Wigley represented the local Girl Guides' Association. Other guests included Miss Alice Pooley, Rev. F. C. Chapman and Mrs. Chapman, Major and Mrs. Stamer, Lieutenants and Mrs. Gilles, Reeve R. P. Matheson, Mrs. Warden, Mr. and Mrs. Sharples, and members of the I.O.D.E. Women's Institutes, Scottish Daughters, Child Hygiene Council and Kumtula Club.

Captain MacLachlan, Gilles, on behalf of the Esquimalt Guides, and Brown Owl Mrs. R. P. Matheson, for the Brownies, desire to thank very heartily all the kind friends who so generously gave their support and goodwill to the undertaking.

Issue of Bonds by Nanaimo Hospital Is Not Approved

A draft of an amendment to the Local Improvement Act was agreed to yesterday by the Municipal Committee, which also decided to recommend the passage of a measure, emanating from Prince Rupert, in regard to financing sidewalks.

The committee, however, could not see its way to concur in a proposal that the Nanaimo hospital authorities be empowered to issue bonds. The committee will, Wednesday, consider the final draft of amendments to the Municipal Act proposed by the Union of British Columbia Municipalities.

Queens Ever Ready To Don Mourning

Custom to Have Appropriate Garments, Queen Mother's Death Discloses

LONDON, Dec. 7.—The death of Queen Alexandra disclosed the fact that it is the custom of queens to carry a mourning outfit with them wherever they go. Thus the Queen of Spain, the Queen of Norway and the Crown Princess of Sweden did not have to go further than their trunks to select their apparel for the period of court mourning.

The merchants are expressing appreciation of the King's consideration for their trade in limiting court

mourning to three months with only two months of deep mourning.
"It is an exceedingly generous act," one merchant said, "for which we are all grateful. The command does not limit designers in preparing shade cards for the Spring, which is the busiest season for dress in London."

The Lonely House

By MRS. BELLOC LOWDNES

THE STORY SO FAR
LILY FAIRFIELD, a young English girl,
on a visit to her mother's step-sister,
the Countess FOLDA, at her place, La Solitude, Meaux, she arrives, apparently before she is expected. The Countess seems somewhat put out about it.
HERCULES POPEAU, middle-aged Frenchman, who has helped make Lily comfortable on her journey.

ANGUS STUART, another travelling companion, captain in the London Scottish CHRISTIAN, a friend of Countess Folda, who acts as servant at La Solitude. She tells Lily that there will be a good fire dinner.

MR. PONTING. He arrives, to explain that he cannot stay for dinner. The Count and Countess seem annoyed, and persuade him to stay on people. All he said was:
"I'll be back in half an hour." He tries to give Lily a lovely little antique box he has brought from one of the women at the Cassini at Monte Carlo, but she refuses, not wishing to accept such a valuable gift from him.
That night Lily hears a commotion outside the drawing-room door. She goes to see what is going on. She finds her step-sister in a state of great excitement. She tells Lily that Mr. Popeau has been here, and that he has been very kind to her. She tells her that she has been very kind to her, and that she has been very kind to her.

CHAPTER XXVI
Beppo Does His Best
"I love you, Lily—love you passionately! Why should you be offended at my saying this? Surely you can understand that we South-Americans are not like cold, calculating Englishmen? We say what is in our heart!"

Beppo's voice was broken with emotion, and he was looking at Lily in a way that made her feel moved and thrilled.
It was the first evening of the young man's stay at La Solitude.
The two were alone in the garden.
After dinner it was Lily who had suggested that they should go out of doors. She had done so quite simply, thinking that the Countess would, as a matter of course, come out, too. But they had both stayed in the study, only opening the door for a moment to switch with eager, benign eyes the two young people go off together, alone, in the moonlight, to the right, where there was a path which led to the confines of the little property.

It was there, pacing up and down
almost within earshot of the house, that Beppo, soon, throwing away his cigarette, had begun pouring out ardent declarations of love.
At first Lily had tried to treat what he said as a joke, and a half-joke, but he had soon forced her to take him seriously, for he became more violent, more passionate in his utterances.

Perhaps he realized he was frightening and offending her, for with that curious mixture of real ardor, passion, and cool, calculating intelligence, which is the Countess's trait in most Southerners, he suddenly dropped her hands.
"Forgive me!" he cried passionately. "I have been precipitate and selfish tonight. You are so good in allowing me to be your friend! It is well to begin with friendship
when one aspires to love."
And, as he had expected her to do,
Lily eagerly met him half way.
"I have always hoped you would be my friend," she said sincerely.
"Ever since I came here, and you and Aunt Cozy began talking about you to me, I hoped that if ever we met
we should be real friends, Beppo."

They were standing now at the extreme end of the great path. From there, in the daytime, was a beautiful view of sea, sky, and coastline, towards France; and Beppo began telling her some curious stories of his ancestors, who had been almost as great people through the ages, when the Riviera belonged to Italy, as were the Grimaldis on their frowning rock.

At last, at her suggestion, they turned and walked slowly back to the house. The Countess had sat up for them, and as they came in, the beacon, she looked eagerly into Lily's face, only to see, with disappointment, that the English girl looked very usual, quiet, unemotional self.

After Lily had gone upstairs, Beppo lingered for a moment or two with his mother, and at last he answered the mule inquiry of her eyes.

"I think I have made a good beginning," he whispered. "But, mamma, it is no good being in a hurry with Englishwomen. They are frightened and made uneasy if they are what the English call 'rushed.'"
But that, mamma, is no disadvantage in the long run."
She nodded. What Beppo said was perfectly true.

Lily got up long before Beppo was asleep, and her heart was soon singing for joy, for she had gone to meet the postman, and had received her first love letter.
Angus Stuart had compromised with his conscience by having no beginning to his letter, but he had not been able to keep back what was now filling his heart, and to Lily it was a perfect letter. He added a long postscript: "I had no intention of trying to see you today, but Papa Popeau is determined to see Countess Folda at close quarters, and so I couldn't prevent his making the proposal that we should all meet at lunch."

There had also come for her an elaborate little note from Mr. Ponting proposing that the whole party at La Solitude should meet him and Captain Stuart at the Golf Club, and lunch there with them. And Aunt Cozy gladly accepted.

Sure Way to Get Rid of Blackheads

heads. It is to dissolve them. To do this, get

It is a simple, safe and sure way that

M. Popeau had ordered an excellent luncheon, and he himself in exceptionally high spirits.

To Lily's secret relief, Beppo behaved perfectly. He paid her, that is, no more attention than was due to his mother's guest. Even so, Lily and her lover were not able to exchange more than a very few words alone together. Still, there moments very precious.

Poor Angus Stuart! Lily could not divine how he longed to be with her, far away from all these stranger people. All he said was: "Will you be coming down to the town—I mean alone, as you used to—during the next two or three days?"

Lily shook her head regretfully.
"I'm afraid not. But Beppo Folda won't let me stay very long at La Solitude."

The young man's face darkened as she mentioned Beppo.
"It's all right," she said quickly.
"He's been really very nice. But—I do wish you'd let me tell him."

"No," he said sharply. "I beg you not to do that—!" and then under his breath he whispered the word
"darling," adding, "You see, I don't want you to let him know that you've heard from your uncle. Oh, Lily—!"
and then he muttered, "Confound him!"

Beppo was her shadow—so much so that one day, to her annoyance, Cristina observed with a smile: "I thought Beppo was a young girl, Madame! He is so devoted to you!"
"Why, even if Lily had received and sent on that peculiar letter which she thought he had been writing to her,
the Countess had been in the embrace of her bedroom yesterday, there was time enough for Lily and Beppo to be engaged and married ten times over before the end of the day."

The days that followed were like a happy dream. Every morning
Lily awoke to find from Angus Stuart, in the sunshine of his newfound happiness the ice of the young Scottishman's reserve broke down, and his long letters filled her with delight.

Beppo was her shadow—so much

Authors' Club Met At Victoria College

Mrs. McMicking Exhibits Her
Interesting Scrapbooks of
Old Victoria Days

A meeting of the Victoria and Islands branch of the Canadian Authors'
Association was held last evening at
Victoria College, the president, Mrs.
N. de la Roche, in the chair.

It was an evening of reminiscences
of Victoria, and the first speaker was
Mrs. C. C. Pemberton, who said she wished to draw the attention of the Authors' Club to the fact that recently
two British Columbia authors have
had places named after them, namely,
Dr. Newcombe and Capt. Walbran,
after whom Mount Newcombe in the
Queen Charlotte Islands, and Walbran
Park in Victoria have been named.

Mrs. R. B. McMicking then exhibited her unique collection of twelve scrap books, which have never before been shown to a local club. They date
from 1873 to 1925, one of the most interesting containing a clipping from
The Vancouver Province describing
the old Cariboo wagon road and its story. This article was written by
Mr. J. B. Leighton, a brother of Mrs.
McMicking and Dr. Wade.

Two later books contain records of Victoria's part in the Great War, and
also articles on the declaration of peace and subsequent events. There was a picture of The Colonist printing office in 1884 and an "extra" by
The Colonist of November 3, 1875,
giving an account of the wreck of the steamer Pacific in which a number of well-known Victorians lost their lives.

In 1910 a special number of The Colonist was edited by women of the city, and this number is among Mrs.
McMicking's collection. There were also extracts and clippings from The Vancouver Daily Province, The Times,
and local papers which lived for but
short periods of time.

The president was presented with
a charming colonial bouquet by Mrs.
Rathbone at the conclusion of the meeting.

International Golden Rule Sunday Observed

secretary of the B.C. Joint Committee for Near East relief, was in Vic-

at Hampshire Road United Church in the evening.

The object was International Golden Rule Sunday and although songs of the churches observed the day yesterday, others have yet to mark the occasion, which is set aside for relief

CONSTANTINOPLE, Dec. 7.—The

Accordingly, it has decided to pro-

Elect Members for Boys' Parliament

R. Wallace, D. Le Page, John Mc-
Donald, W. More, S. Pringle
to Represent Victoria

The five boys elected to represent
Victoria in the third annual C.B.E.T.
Boys' Parliament are Robert Wallace,
David Le Page, John McDonald, Wil-
cox More and Stewart Pringle. Robert Wallace, heading the poll, is a first member for Victoria, and will most probably hold a cabinet position. He was the only Victoria member who sought re-election in this constituency
and last year held the position of deputy speaker and chairman of the House Committee.

Entertainment Helps St. Alban's Mission

Designed to secure funds for the work of St. Alban's Mission, an opera, "Clue in Toyland," was presented last Friday evening at the church hall, and thoroughly enjoyed by a large attendance. St. Alban's Mission is a branch of St. Barnabas Church. Two years ago a small hall was built, and now, thanks to the untiring efforts of the congregation,
there are almost 50 children attending the Sunday school, and the hall has been recently enlarged to take care of them.

The opera gave good scope for acting and has many characters for the school children, and fairies. The children who took part acquitted themselves very well, thanks to the training given them by Mrs. David Swan, Mrs. White, Mrs. Shrimpton
and Mrs. David Bridges.

After the opera the sketch, "Let on Paris France," was given by the grown-ups and provided a good deal of hilarity. The parts of Mr. and Mrs.
Spriggin were taken by Mr. and Mrs.
B. A. Shrimpton, and that of the Frenchman by Mr. B. G. Robinson.
Major Regulus Rattan was represented by Mr. Fred Smith, and his wife by Mrs. B. G. Robinson. Miss Connie Thompson played Angelina, and Anna Maria, the maid of all work, was presented by Mrs. David Swan, who took the part to perfection. All the characters were good and the whole performance ranked high. At the request of numerous friends the entire evening's programme will be repeated in the near future. The entertainment netted a good sum and will benefit the work of the church.

Authors' Club Met At Victoria College

Mrs. McMicking Exhibits Her
Interesting Scrapbooks of
Old Victoria Days

A meeting of the Victoria and Islands branch of the Canadian Authors'
Association was held last evening at
Victoria College, the president, Mrs.
N. de la Roche, in the chair.

It was an evening of reminiscences
of Victoria, and the first speaker was
Mrs. C. C. Pemberton, who said she wished to draw the attention of the Authors' Club to the fact that recently
two British Columbia authors have
had places named after them, namely,
Dr. Newcombe and Capt. Walbran,
after whom Mount Newcombe in the
Queen Charlotte Islands, and Walbran
Park in Victoria have been named.

Mrs. R. B. McMicking then exhibited her unique collection of twelve
scrap books, which have never before
been shown to a local club. They date
from 1873 to 1925, one of the most interesting containing a clipping from
The Vancouver Province describing
the old Cariboo wagon road and its story. This article was written by
Mr. J. B. Leighton, a brother of Mrs.
McMicking and Dr. Wade.

Two later books contain records of Victoria's part in the Great War, and
also articles on the declaration of peace and subsequent events. There was a picture of The Colonist printing office in 1884 and an "extra" by
The Colonist of November 3, 1875,
giving an account of the wreck of the steamer Pacific in which a number of well-known Victorians lost their lives.

In 1910 a special number of The Colonist was edited by women of the city, and this number is among Mrs.
McMicking's collection. There were also extracts and clippings from The Vancouver Daily Province, The Times,
and local papers which lived for but
short periods of time.

The president was presented with
a charming colonial bouquet by Mrs.
Rathbone at the conclusion of the meeting.

Elect Members for Boys' Parliament

R. Wallace, D. Le Page, John Mc-
Donald, W. More, S. Pringle
to Represent Victoria

The five boys elected to represent
Victoria in the third annual C.B.E.T.
Boys' Parliament are Robert Wallace,
David Le Page, John McDonald, Wil-
cox More and Stewart Pringle. Robert
Wallace, heading the poll, is a first
member for Victoria, and will most probably hold a cabinet position. He was the only Victoria member who
sought re-election in this constituency
and last year held the position of
deputy speaker and chairman of the House Committee.

Wallace is a product of the local

Saskatoon Sheiks Continue Victorious in Hockey Race

Prairie Team Scores Another Victory at Expense of Frank Patrick's Maroons, Defeating Coast Team by Three Goals to Two at Vancouver Arena

VANCOUVER, Dec. 7.—Saskatoon evened up the series with the Vancouver Maroons by winning tonight's hockey game 3-2. The Sheiks thereby concluding their season's initial invasion of the Coast cities with three victories to their credit and one defeat, the latter being at the hands of Vancouver last week.

Saskatoon deserved the win, as they played better hockey than their opponents. The game was an interesting one from the onlooker's standpoint, but only fair hockey.

Win in First Period
The visitors won the game in the dying minutes of the first period when they got their first counter with less than a minute and a half to go, and the second only twenty-three seconds later. Vancouver got one in each of the second and last sessions, and only clever net minding by Hainsworth prevented a tie.

Cameron got the first score and was followed by Bill Cook on Denaney's pass. Reinkka scored the first goal for the home team, with Mickey MacKay getting an assist. The fourth score came from Bill Cook's stick and the last through Arbour.

Saskatoon opened with a three-man rush, with Denaney shooting. MacKay went down to bounce one off Hainsworth's pads. Moran nearly batted in a rebound on his follow-through, and Bill Cook replied, but failed to pass for an almost certain counter. Denaney and Cameron combined for the first score, and then got the second before the fans had time to catch up with the play.

Sacks Better in Second Also Saskatoon had much the better of the play in the second period after the first five minutes, but failed to take advantage of opportunities. Vancouver woke up with Reinkka's tally but were checked too hard on the blue line. Bill Cook secured and went down alone to send one that hit Lehman's glove and then dropped into the net.

Hainsworth made some good saves in the last period when the Maroons pelted him from all angles, but the only one that got by him was Arbour's bouncer.

New Regulations for Davis Cup Tennis Finals Asked by French

Want at Least Week's Rest Between Last Interzone Matches and Challenge Round—Also Ask Sunday as Players' Day of Rest

PARIS, Dec. 7.—The French Tennis Federation requested that the United States Lawn Tennis Association arrange that at least seven days elapse between the completion of the interzone finals and the challenge round of the Davis Cup play in 1926.

The federation was influenced in its action by the near collapse of Jean Borotra and Rene La Coite at the end of last summer's Davis Cup matches against the American team. The French organization also requested that important rounds of Davis Cup tennis be scheduled for Friday, Saturday and Monday, to give the players a full day's rest between the doubles and final singles matches. Borotra and La Coite, France's Davis Cup representatives, played strongly against Johnson and Tilden in their opening matches, but weakened in the end.

Rocky Kansas Takes Crown From Goodrich

Veteran Challenger Wins Lightweight Championship After Fourteen Years' Striving

BUFFALO, N.Y., Dec. 7.—Rocky Kansas, of Buffalo, tonight won the lightweight championship of the world from Jimmy Goodrich, also of Buffalo.

In a stirring fifteen-round bout, replete with action every second, the veteran challenger outscored the champion and achieved the goal he set himself to win more than fourteen years ago.

The challenger forced the fight in the first round, scoring several hard lefts to the champion's head and shaking him with left hooks, but the champion's defense stiffened in the second.

In the third round both took punishment in the in-fighting, Kansas hammering home two hard left hooks in succession.

They fought more cautiously in the fourth.

In the fifth Goodrich caught Kansas with rights and lefts.

Goodrich Wild

Jimmy missed frequently in the sixth, and the rights he landed did not seem to slow Kansas up any.

Goodrich boxed carefully in the seventh, and scored two to the head and two rights to the body.

In the eighth Kansas shook the champion with a jab on the chin, but took a stiff right in return.

Kansas opened the thirteenth with hard jabs to the head. Jimmy came back with hard rights to the body and head. He staggered Rocky with a right hander.

The champion started after the challenger as the final round started and scored hard rights and lefts to the body. Kansas fought back violently.

Rocky Staggered

They mixed it in the eleventh. Both started strongly in the twelfth and each scored vicious body blows.

Challenger & Mitchell Cup

The semi-finals of the second fight of the Challenger & Mitchell Cup competition is still undecided. Arthur Haynes and Harold Johnson have played their match four times, resulting in a tie each time.

In the handicaps a full round has to be played. Louis York, who is waiting to play the winner, says they are both "sacred" of him.

There will be a meeting of the Sixteenth Battalion, Canadian Scottish Rifle Association at the Victoria Rifle Association tonight at 7:45 sharp, to discuss conditions of shooting and the awarding of prizes for the season. It is hoped that all members who are interested will attend.

Tickets for tomorrow night's game will go on sale this morning at 9 o'clock, at the hockey ticket office, 421 View Street. In view of the fact that the Maroons and Cougars always provide good entertainment and plenty of thrills for the fans, and that the Victoria club will be out fighting valiantly to emerge from the scrap victorious, there undoubtedly will be a heavy demand for seat reservations.

Noted Billiard Player Now in Canada

Stanley Newman

Professional champion of the South of England, and younger brother of "Tommy" Newman, the British billiard champion, he came to Canada with the intention of making his home here. He will show his skill on a playing tour which will take him to Vancouver and Victoria, and next year will take part in the Millar's Association of Canada annual professional championship matches. He has a break record of 151.

Sportive Punches

By the "Old Un"

The "Old Un" regrets that he is unable to start the week by congratulating the COUGARS on starting the season with a victory on home ice.

He did not see the game on Saturday night, but from all accounts the Cougars were not playing in quite the form that they were showing at the end of last season, and a good many people seemed to expect that they would be.

Which is hardly fair, seeing that they have only just finished a fairly strenuous tour of the East and have hardly had time to get their second wind.

Possibly, too, they were afflicted to some degree in the same way as that chap Peckinpah was in the world's baseball series.

Having been adjudged the most valuable player in his league BEFORE he entered the big doings of the year, he had the weight of an awful responsibility on his shoulders, which probably prevented him playing his best game and had something to do with his making an unenviable record for "errors."

The Cougars have the title of world's champions to live up to and no doubt they, too, feel a little too much just now the weight of responsibility, and know that everybody is expecting them to set up to the part.

Once this was worn off and they get really into their stride they will no doubt get away on the road to a second championship, so that after a while a championship will be more of an everyday matter in their young lives.

It gives the "Old Un" great pleasure, on the other hand, to be able to start the week with congratulations for the HIGH SCHOOL RUGBY team of Victoria on its success in winning the championship of the Province.

He is informed that this is the first time in eleven years that the Victoria school has won it.

Vancouver has grown quite considerably in the last eleven years, and quite considerably more than Victoria has. With the vastly increased population of the Mainland City it is indeed a feather in the cap of the local boys to be able to beat the lot.

Everybody who saw the game here on Saturday agreed that it was a good game and that the brand of Rugby played was good, also.

Which shows that not only are the boys taking an increased interest in Rugby, but they are evidently having the advantage of some excellent coaching in the game, which is all to the good.

Bakers to Meet Bays Tomorrow in Feature Game

Will Play at Upper Beacon Hill Grounds in Important Wednesday League Soccer Match at 2:30 P.M.

Other Fixtures Announced

Wednesday League football fixtures for this week are Rennie & Taylors vs. Hudson's Bay, Beacon Hill upper ground; Tillicuma vs. Kirkhams, Central Park, referee, Howison; Garrison vs. Navy, Beacon Hill lower ground, referee, P. O. Temple.

What promises to be the feature tilt on the day's programme will be played at Beacon Hill upper ground, when the league leaders, Hudson's Bay, clash with Rennie & Taylors, occupants of the second berth. The Bays have been travelling at a fast pace lately, and the breadmen should have a tough proposition to handle.

The bakers have a formidable lineup awaiting the sound of the whistle, that will set them going in one of their hardest soccer battles in the mid-week soccer. In their last encounter the departmental store eleven gained a 3-0 victory, but this time the followers of the bakery eleven say that a different story will result. A victory for the Hudson's Bay in this game will about give them the championship of the first half of the league schedule, but should the breadmen come across with a win, interest in the mid-week soccer loop will be at its highest.

Beacon Hill Lower

On the lower ground the two Services clubs will do battle, namely the Army and the Navy. The Tommy's have a good team which is fully capable of playing good soccer, and on Wednesday they should give their sailor opponents a merry time.

At Central Park

At Central Park, Tillicuma and Kirkhams will settle their little differences. The clubmen met with defeat at the hands of the soldier eleven last week, while their opponents gained a 2-1 victory over the Navy. This game should be keenly contested.

Holiday Fixtures

On Christmas Day the pick of the Wednesday League will play the pick of the junior league at Beacon Hill. On Thanksgiving Day, the Tommy's will measure of the mid-week representatives by a 3-1 score, and this time the Wednesday League will be out for revenge. The last tilt proved a good game and many followers of the wended their way to witness the teams in action. It is expected that this game will be one of the best drawing cards of the holiday fixtures.

CHAPTER VII

Winning Three Flags for Detroit.

The dive into the empty swimming tank was more costly to my state of mind than to my state of health. I was severely stunned but recovered quickly, and this speedy recovery has handicapped me ever since. For more than twenty years I have been reminded of it. You can say a great many things in a baseball game to a man who lands head first on a concrete floor without hurting himself and all of them have been said to me. I doubt if any man took more bumps on the head than I did. In one game Amos Rusie hit me on the head with his fast ball. I was hit fifty-nine times with pitched balls. I became accustomed to it—as nearly accustomed, rather, as any man will ever become to being hit on the head by pitched balls.

This record has afforded the players considerable amusement. I remember one time Long Tim Hughes, a pitcher for Washington, came over to the Detroit bench and began getting fresh with our players. I said to Hughes, "Come on, get out of here," and Hughes answered: "What do you mean by telling me to get out? You haven't got an ounce of brains left. All that Rusie didn't knock out of your head you left in the bottom of the swimming tank at Cornell."

Another Pennant:
In 1900 I was again with Brooklyn, and we won the pennant once more. The next year I was a member of the Philadelphia Nationals, managing and captaining that team. I had played first base for Brooklyn during the two years I was there, and I continued at first for Philadelphia. An injury to my arm prevented me from playing short. At the end of two years in Philadelphia my arm was about gone, and so I retired from the major leagues, returning to Baltimore, where I had a chance to manage that team in the Eastern League.

I was graduated from Cornell in June, 1904, and began practicing law with my brother in Scranton, Pa., during the off-season.

I remained with Baltimore until the close of the 1906 season, when I was drafted by the Detroit club and made my debut in the American League in the spring of 1907. In Detroit I succeeded William Armour as manager of the club. There was some good playing talent, but the club had not played in the best of luck for several seasons. This luck turned in the year I joined the team. We won a pennant in 1907 in a stirring finish, and we won again the following year. This 1908 American League pennant race was probably the closest of all time, and on the last day of the season three clubs had a chance to land on top. In 1909 we again won a pennant. The first two years we were beaten by the Chicago Cubs, and in 1909 we lost to Pittsburgh, the series going to seven games. I remained as manager of the Detroit Tigers until the close of the 1920 season. I then resigned and

Grange's Sudden Rise to Wealth Reads Like Old-Time Fairy Tale

Illinois Football Star Has Cleaned Up Nearly Half-Million Dollars in Two Weeks Since Turning Professional—$300,000 for First Motion Picture

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—"Red" Grange trod a golden path in his spectacular week-end visit to New York. The former hero of college gridirons, now starting as a professional with the Chicago Bears, left this afternoon for Washington to fulfill a playing engagement tomorrow after realizing close to $400,000 here within twenty-four hours on his fame and name.

The climax of Grange's financial operations, now as sensational as his performances on the football field, was the signing of a motion picture contract today under which he was handed a cheque for $300,000 representing a flat guarantee for his first appearance on the screen. In addition Grange was paid $26,000 for participating in the 19 to 7 victory scored by his Bears over the New York Giants yesterday at the Polo Grounds before a record crowd of 75,000, and received $40,000 more from metropolitan business concerns obtaining his endorsement for sweaters, caps, shoes, tobacco and souvenirs. Grange gained about 150 yards against the Giants so that his share of the gate receipts represented $240 for each yard he advanced. That was nearly double that for any previous engagement and brought his total estimated revenue from actual playing to about $50,000.

All told, Grange has accumulated close to half a million dollars since he left the University of Illinois two weeks ago, immediately following his last college game against Ohio State.

B.C.'s Hands Are Tied Regarding Old Age Pension

Unanimous Favorable Resolution Again Passed Will Again Be Sent to Ottawa—To Be Pigeonholed?

Measure Very Necessary

"We say it is up to Ottawa, and Ottawa says it is up to us. Between us, the prospect of an old age pension scheme for the Province of the Dominion is up in the air."

This sentiment, expressed by Mr. J. W. Jones, Conservative member for South Okanagan, illustrates the feeling of members of the Legislature towards the project, which was again the subject of a unanimous favorable resolution, introduced by Mr. Neelands, Vancouver, yesterday.

Hon. W. Sloan, continuing the debate on the resolution, said that the House had already had before it resolutions on old age pensions in 1918, 1921, 1922 and 1924. British Columbia had been recognized as being the first province to give its imprimatur to old age pensions. It was easy to understand, he said, because British Columbia, with its lumbering, mining and fishing industries, and its manufactures, has a large proportion of laboring men, and the old age pension was naturally of first importance to workers in industries.

"Under modern industrial conditions and present-day high living costs," continued the minister, "it is exceedingly difficult for a worker, even in his prime, to do more than meet the demands of each passing day. He has no surplus to provide against the exigencies of his old age."

Political conditions at Ottawa made the introduction of old age pensions difficult, said the minister. Originally a plank in the declared policy of the Liberal party, it was now advocated by the Labor party as well. He hoped they would see a political situation arise which would make it practicable to introduce a measure of old age pensions for the people of Canada at an early date.

Mr. H. G. Perry, Fort George, said he wished to associate himself with the resolution. Liberals in Canada had not taken the same forward steps as in other countries, and, notwithstanding the fact that the Liberals had a government in power in Ottawa for the past four years, they had not for the most part recommended of gone beyond the recommendation of the principle by a committee of the House.

Conditions Deplored
Mr. T. Uphill, Labor, Pentic, quoted many of the United States of America as having commended old age pensions and four as having adopted them. He deplored the condition which prevented British Columbia, while being first in the field for social reform, not being able to crystallize its principles into legislation.

Mr. J. W. Jones, Conservative, South Okanagan, asked what they were gaining by a succession of resolutions. These resolutions met the same fate as the resolutions of the Federal authorities suggested that a convention of Provincial representatives give them a lead and, when they asked for delegates, British Columbia, of course, vouchsafed a reply.

The resolution was unanimously adopted.

Washington Chambers Open Amid Colorful and Turbulent Scenes—Insurgents and Democrats Beaten

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—Amid colorful and turbulent scenes in the House and utter calm in the Senate, the sixty-ninth Congress put under way today its first session.

A small group of insurgents started the fireworks in the House, but despite their opposition and that of the Democrats, the Republican majority, rolled up with the Coolidge landslide of 1924, moved on to victory in every test of strength.

Nicholas Longworth, of Ohio, former Republican floor leader, was elected speaker in the three-cornered race in which the Democratic supported F. J. Garrett, of Tennessee, their floor chief, and the insurgents cast their ballots for Henry Cooper, of Wisconsin. The vote was Longworth, 123; Garrett, 173; Cooper, 12.

With the organization preliminaries over, the next test of strength was on a proposed resolution of the House to amend the rules so as to make more difficult the discharge of a committee from the consideration of legislation referred to it. Here again the Republicans won, but by a narrow majority, the vote being 208 to 196. Several of the regulars joined with the insurgents and Democrats in opposing the amendment.

North Saanich School Children Give Pantomime and Concert Very Cleverly

SIDNEY, Dec. 7.—A successful and enjoyable entertainment was held in Bequest Hall Friday, December 4, when the children of North Saanich School gave their annual pantomime and concert. There was a record attendance, the hall, which was prettily decorated in patriotic colors, being completely filled by the enthusiastic audience.

The programme opened with the singing of "O Canada" by the school, followed by a pretty play in two scenes, entitled, "The Fairy Princess," in which the cast, consisting of Miss Nellie Brown, Miss Gertrude Betty and Joan Thomas, Dawn Hayward, and Master Wilfred Hill, all showed excellent talent. Some pleasing piano solos were well rendered by Misses Kathleen Lowe, Gertrude Straight and Helen Cochran. A camp scene, by the boys of the school, which included a number of old favorite songs, delighted the audience. Little Miss J. Nicholson recited prettily, while a charming Christmas greeting scene was performed by six little girls.

Humorous recitations by Miss Rita Hoare and B. Gibson were much appreciated, while the amusing sketch, "Mellow Dreamer," by members of Division One, filled the hall with merriment. The pantomime, "Red Riding Hood," produced in four scenes, was the principal item on the programme, and was unanimously considered the success of the evening. The entire cast took the parts in a most creditable manner, while the charming costumes and pretty songs and dances, some by the principal actors, and others by a chorus of the minor characters, were greatly appreciated.

Everyone who participated in the play showed such excellent talent that it was impossible to single out anyone as the star performer. At the conclusion of the programme, a National Anthem, Miss Tupper, the principal of the North Saanich School, thanked the members of the North Saanich Social Club for their hearty co-operation and support, specially mentioning Mrs. McLean, who was in charge of the musical programme, and accompanied the singers during the evening. Mrs. Thomas, who directed the plays, and Mrs. Chancellors, for her excellent work on the costumes of the cast.

Captain Wilson, the president of the North Saanich Social Club, spoke a few words expressing his appreciation of the large audience, and inviting all present to the Christmas activities of the club, after which dainty refreshments were served by the ladies of the club, while the floor was cleared for an enjoyable dance, the music being furnished by Mrs. McLean and Mr. W. Bosher, in their usual pleasing manner.

During the evening it was announced that the committee of guessing the name of a valuable doll had been won by Mr. B. Reading, who was the only competitor out of two hundred and sixty to single out the name of "Joyce."

Forestry Men Hold Sessions Here This Week

Publicity Committee of Western Forestry and Conservation Association Sits on First Day

Convention Is Tomorrow

The Western Forestry and Conservation Association opened its proceedings in the Empress Hotel yesterday morning with a very fair representation of the various organizations embraced in that body present. At these gatherings the details connected with the work represented by the Association are discussed, and plans laid for reaching practical results. The final two days of the conference will be given up to address, and discussions on many important related questions.

First Meeting Here

This is the first occasion upon which the conference has been held in Victoria, although it has met in Vancouver, B.C. in previous years. The organization is a Western one, and includes not only representatives of the Federal Forestry Department of the United States and the State departments as well, but also many private organizations which are interested in the preservation of the stands of timber and securing the best results from forest wealth.

As far as Canada is concerned, there has been a disposition on the part of the Dominion Forestry Department and that of British Columbia to co-operate and take advantage of the information that is available at such gatherings. The Association has no legislative authority in the matters that come before it, but its recommendations in view of the personnel of the membership carry a great deal of weight in the Federal and State legislatures, and also administration of the various forestry departments, both on the American side and in Canada.

Formal Welcome Tomorrow

The formal welcome to be extended to the conference visitors will not take place until tomorrow morning. The committee work, which started yesterday, got away without any preliminary felicitations. The session was a meeting of the publicity committee. Of this department, Mr. C. S. Chapman, of Tacoma, chairman of the Washington forest taxation committee, is chairman. He, however, felt that as the meeting was being held in British Columbia it would be preferable to have a local man in the chair. Accordingly, Mr. R. V. Stuart, of the British Columbia Forest Branch, presided, with Mr. H. H. Harper, of Portland, secretary.

In the Schools

On the subject of co-operation in providing protective agencies, the subject of a loose paper cover suitable to be used on school books, came up for discussion. There were strong reasons advanced for the use of a uniform cover as suggested, which would carry on it information calculated to attract the attention of the public to the necessity for forest protection. It was decided to name a committee later, which would go into the subject and report by February 1. The subject of films being used in attracting attention to the subject of forest protection from fire was discussed at length. The "Red Enemy" film was referred to, and the good emphasis that had resulted from its use.

Major Guthrie said that perhaps something could be done quickly by using films already in existence and having the scenario prepared without delay.

Mr. C. S. Cowan, of Vancouver, felt that there was room for education of the public along the line of the danger from dropping cigarettes and matches. He had himself, in some talks he had given, adopted striking methods that, he said, had reached the public and tended to dissipate the ideas held by so many that there was no danger from these sources.

It was, he pointed out, in connection with all these publicity propositions that money was needed, and the organization had not the funds available. It was decided to appoint a committee to take the subject of films for education use in connection with forest protection.

Today's Business

The protection committee's business today includes—Air patrol; Location of stations; observation, personnel; weather work; organization, kinds of instruments; research needed; cut-over land protection; improvement needed; slash disposal; present pulle requirements and needed changes; spark arresters; outside exhaust and other protective logging devices; equipment developments; pumps, torches, tools; maintenance of camp grounds; Financing upkeep; law enforcement; place for trained police and prosecution officers; control on smoking in woods; central dispatcher system; Clarke-McNary law problems; recommendations to general conference.

Allies Chapter of North Saanich Holds Meeting

DEEP COVE, Dec. 7.—The regular meeting of the Allies Chapter of the North Saanich I.O.O.F. was held at the home of Mrs. Goddard, Sea Point, on Thursday afternoon, the vice-regent, Mrs. Bodkin, being in the chair.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. Rochford, the financial report being presented by the treasurer, Miss Henson, both reports being adopted as read.

On a discussion as to what financial support is needed by the Women's Hospital in London, action was deferred until the next monthly meeting.

It has been arranged to ask Dr. Irene Hudson to appear at the meeting to be held in January and address the members on the Borsum, the meeting to be open to the public and to be held at Mathews Hall, Sidney, a silver tea to be held afterwards.

The committee in charge of the tea has composed Messdames Bodkin, Goddard and Philip.

Patriotic calendars will be presented to the schools of Sidney, North Saanich and Deep Cove. A cordial welcome was extended to the new member, Miss Peakes, Mrs. Kinnaird also being proposed as a new member.

The meeting was then adjourned by the singing of the National Anthem, after which a delicious tea was served by Mrs. Goddard, assisted by her mother, Mrs. Gramme.

Plans for New Transpacific Liners to Appear in Budget

Former Vice-President of N.Y.K. Arrives From Japan—Building of New Ships and Subsidy Will Be Used as Inducement to Amalgamate Lines, He Believes

The plans for the construction of the three superior ships for the transpacific service will appear in the budget which will be presented at the next session of the Japanese Diet, opening December 25th, Mr. Shinjiro Kurokawa, former vice-president of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha, told The Colonist on his arrival here last night aboard the liner President Grant.

Mr. Kurokawa is one of Japan's foremost business men. He is also a large shareholder in the N.Y.K.

In Mr. Kurokawa's opinion the Government will offer to construct the three boats on four different plans. The offer will be made, he thinks, to the three leading firms in Japan, the Toyo Kisen Kaisha, Nippon Yusen Kaisha, and Osaka Shosen Kaisha. But first an effort will be made to build the three new ships with the annual subsidy of $2,000,000, or $1,400,000, as an inducement for the N.Y.K. and T.K.K. to amalgamate. Failing this the offer will be made separately to each firm, and

If this is not successful, a new company will be formed.

Shipbuilding Policy

When Mr. Kurokawa was vice-president of the N.Y.K. it was the policy of the company to build four new ships of the President type for operation between Yokohama and Seattle, but with the reorganization of the directorate as demanded by the company's employees, the policy has changed to one of retrenchment, so that private development of the N.Y.K. fleet has been abandoned. Mr. Kurokawa did not think the N.Y.K. would turn down the superior ships if they were offered to the company, although he could not say what condition the company's services were in at present.

The proposition is that three liners of the Diesel engine type, displacing 17,000 tons, should be built by the company to be operated by some Japanese steamship line, which would be given a subsidy of $1,400,000. Some decision is expected to be reached during the coming session of the Japanese Diet.

The former vice-president was of the opinion that shipping in general in Japan was on the turn to prosper after three years of depression. The export business in Japan was picking up again, he said.

Hemorrhoids

Or piles are quickly relieved by Dr. Chase's Ointment.

It is a serious matter to have piles and one person in four has them at one time or another. The annoyance and distress is great. It is difficult to obtain lasting relief. So much so that your physician may tell you that a surgical operation is necessary. That is unless he is familiar with Dr. Chase's Ointment for many doctors recommend this treatment to their patients.

For nearly half a century Dr. Chase's Ointment has been the never failing relief for itching, bleeding and protruding piles. It is now very generally known by the medical profession, and the public generally, as the standard treatment for this torturing ailment.

Ask your friends about Dr. Chase's Ointment for "users are boosted" in this case. Relief comes quickly and you can obtain the ointment at any drug store.

Plans for New Transpacific Liners to Appear in Budget

Former Vice-President of N.Y.K. Arrives From Japan—Building of New Ships and Subsidy Will Be Used as Inducement to Amalgamate Lines, He Believes

The plans for the construction of the three superior ships for the transpacific service will appear in the budget which will be presented at the next session of the Japanese Diet, opening December 25. Mr. Shinjiro Kurokawa, former vice-president of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha, told The Colonist on his arrival here last night aboard the liner President Grant, that the government is planning to build four new ships of the President type for operation between Yokohama and Seattle, but with the reorganization of the directorate as demanded by the company's employees, the policy has changed to one of retrenchment, so that private development of the N.Y.K. fleet has been abandoned. Mr. Kurokawa did not think that the N.Y.K. would turn down the superior ships if they were offered to the company, although he could not say what conditions the company's services were in at present.

The proposition is that three liners of the Diesel engine type, displacing 11,000 tons, should be built by the company to be operated by some Japanese steamship line, which would be given a subsidy of $1,400,000. Some decision is expected to be reached during the coming session of the Japanese Diet.

The former vice-president was of the opinion that shipping in general in Japan was on the turn to prosper after three years of depression. The export business in Japan was picking up again, he said.

Hemorrhoids

Or piles are quickly relieved by Dr. Chase's Ointment.

It is a serious matter to have piles and one person in four has them at one time or another. The annoyance and distress is great. It is difficult to obtain lasting relief. So much so that your physician may tell you that a surgical operation is necessary. That is unless he is familiar with Dr. Chase's Ointment for many doctors recommend this treatment to their patients.

For nearly half a century Dr. Chase's Ointment has been the never failing relief for itching, bleeding and protruding piles. It is now very generally known by the medical profession, and the public generally, as the standard treatment for this torturing ailment.

Ask your friends about Dr. Chase's Ointment for "users are boosted" in this case. Relief comes quickly and you can obtain the ointment at any drug store.

Archibald Lampman—Who Earned the Title of Canada's Foremost Nature Poet

By JEANNE VALDEZ

When in the course of an otherwise strenuous and hectic existence we take occasion to pause by the wayside and commune in the shadows (and who does not?) our thoughts inevitably mount on the wings of the moment and reward us with a due sense of the infinites, as compared with the transitory blessings, or their falling, of this life, and here it is that, having but recently perused with rare delight several poems from the pen of Canada's foremost Nature poet, Archibald Lampman, the mood of the moment is so aptly expressed in the words of the poet, "The spirit of things mundane, but like him, the spirit of things eternal, and I find myself embarked, not on the thought of things mundane, but like him, the subject of this sketch, who 'moved with winds and walked with stars' and was constrained to follow in the wake of these—

"Seeking for the spirit unconfined
In the clear abyss of mind
A shelter and a peace majestic."
(From Alecyon.)

Thus then, that close to the anniversary of the author's birth, I cannot but feel happy in chronicling the following data relative to his short tenure upon this terrestrial sphere—a life of such intense interest, which we are all more or less mightily excited, and to what end?

The birth of Archibald Lampman occurred on November 17, 1861, at the little Rectory of Trinity Church, Morphet, in the county of Kent, and Province of Ontario, where the old family homestead was situated. Born of a line of poets and scientists on his mother's side, to which were added extraordinary gifts on his father's, it is scarcely to be wondered at that young Archibald gave early promise of being studiously inclined. It is also noteworthy that the Lampman family was ever a valiant race—loyally upholding the cause of King and Country; forbearable remarkable for achievements; and, as noted by his biographer, Dr. Duncan Campbell Scott, "worthy of honor and remembrance." When but a very little lad, Archibald's parents removed to the immediate vicinity of Rice Lake; and it was upon the shores of this beautiful lake, we are told, that, surrounded by enchanted scenery and congenial society, together with manifold forces manifested from within, his love of Nature and his powers of observation were kindled to such a degree that much of his work was reminiscent of this locality.

Schoolboy Days
Pleasant and vivid recollections of his schoolboy days accompanied him through life, the foundation of his scholarly attainments having been laid by F. W. Barron, M.A., of Cambridge, formerly Principal of Upper Canada College, who, as Dr. Scott reminds us, was an agent diplomat—pointing out that "every day the master marched into the room with a cushion upon his outstretched hands, upon that lay the Bible, and upon the Bible the rod; thus we can readily surmise that, apart from his grounding in Latin and Greek, and those supplemental studies that a past generation deemed on the ethical phase of a young Canadian's education was not allowed to lapse and he was submitted to such discipline of soul and body as was considered expedient by the master.

At the age of thirteen Archibald was compelled, through his father's failing health, to leave his beloved home—the lovely lake with its sunny water and shimmering rice fields—for it was then that the family removed to Coburg, where their mother succeeded against extreme difficulties in educating her only son and daughter. Following a year's tuition there at the Collegiate Institute, he repaired to Trinity College School, Port Hope, preparatory to his attendance at Trinity College, Toronto, which he entered in September, 1879.

Through exemplary diligence during his attendance at these institutions he won several scholarships, which practically covered his expenses. His affiliation with Trinity does not seem to have brought undue distinction, but the impression prevailed that he would eventually become famous.

Early Contributions
During the period of his school life he became editor of the college paper, Rouge et Noir, and as "Scribe" contributed extensively to the Manitoba Free Press, Episcopate, and this it is that we might readily suppose half his time to have been consumed in editing these papers to which he contributed so generously both in prose and poetry.

Then it was that he bestowed much attention on the poets and laid the foundation of his poetic perfection of word phrasing, fertility in rhyme and compelling motive in rhythm which is an absorbing feature throughout his work. His own words, reflecting his atmosphere all his own, reflecting imperishable honor upon the land of his birth.

He graduated in the year 1882, and after having served as assistant master in the high school at Orangeville, where, truth to tell, he does not seem to have demonstrated that rigid discipline which characterized his former tutor of Cambridge, was finally seen him, through the instrumentality of the Post, entering the Civil Service of Canada, where he became attached to the Post Office Department, retaining his position throughout life. This afforded him a beneficial immunity from undue stress in the battle of life, and enabled him to pursue, despite the irksome confinement and routine, such leisure and serenity as best suited his devotion to the passion of his soul—poetry.

His removal to Ottawa assured him congenial society and all the delights attendant upon a proximity to the wilds that he so loved; and it was there that he was enabled to prosecute his real mission in life and devote himself steadily to composition. It was not until the year 1884 that the poems made their first public appearance, and we find in the columns of The Week, a periodical that has since ceased to be published, "The Coming of Winter" and "Three Flowers or Petals," subsequently included in a collection entitled, "Among the Millet," which he dedicated to his wife, Mary, the youngest daughter of Dr. Edward Taylor, of Toronto, to whom he was married in September, 1887. In this connection it may be noted that his home life was a continual font of harmony from whence to draw daily inspiration and delight. His was a most pleasing personality, and partook of grace both in form and manner; the depth of his devotion toward his little family can be gauged in that pathetic lyric, "White Pansies," and the succeeding poem, "We Too Shall Sleep," both of which were composed upon the death of their youngest child.

With reference to his connection with The Week, it is interesting to note that at this time the editorial chair was occupied by Mr. Charles D. Roberts. "Brook Voices"
In the following year, 1885, his field of operation broadened through the medium of The Century Magazine, which published "Bird Voices" in its May number, and subsequently through Reveries Magazine, the publication affording him every encouragement, whereupon he became a frequent contributor to its pages.

Five years later his "Lyrics of Earth" were compiled. These comprised a series of poems devoted exclusively to Nature, in which his eloquent descriptive power treats upon the sequence of the seasons and evokes an imagery of rare fascination and unending delight. These, in turn, were dedicated to his mother. During 1895, the death of his father, the Rev. Archibald Lampman, who had resided to Ottawa upon his son's new domestic arrangements, caused him the most intense sorrow, and it was to his memory that Archibald dedicated his famous poem, "Alecyon." The twin were worthy antagonists in debate, their discussions covering a wide range of topics, both sacred and secular. His dedicatory announcement to his father's memory, "himself a poet, who first instructed me in the art of verse," proclaims to what extent his childhood influences guided his love for Truth and Beauty, giving vent to that perfect sincerity which his friends designated as "the keynote of his character."

As with all true artists, his realization fell far short of his ideal; but this did not deter him in refining to the utmost limit, in order that his work might convey that precise shade of meaning that it was intended it should do. In the year that witnessed his father's passing he received his country's acknowledgement in the only manner that Canada has within her power to bestow upon a literary man, and he was invested with the Fellowship of the Royal Society of Canada.

Early Death
Not a robust physique, doubtless due to the severe attack of rheumatic fever which tormented his little frame when but a child of seven, and from which he lay suffering for twenty months, there exists every reason to presuppose the cause of his comparatively early demise; and the recital of various stupendous feats of endurance performed by the man, Archibald, and his companions in the wilds surrounding Temagami, when on vacation bent, confirmed in the minde of his physicians their opinion that the direct trouble, which they traced to his heart, had been super-induced by excessive labor brought to bear when making portages and establishing camps among the excursions. And so we draw near to the closing days of one whose contribution to Canadian literature will ever remain an influence and an inspiration within the realm of cultured refinement. He left lifted his pen on the evening of January 30, 1895, and with that compelling love of Nature which dominated his every mood, indited his last written thoughts to her through the medium of a Winter sonnet (just here it might be of interest to record that he was an ardent admirer of Keats, and though a deep lover of Pope, Tennyson and Coleridge, it was the poetry of Keats whose method he most closely studied, and of his own sonnets he had been heard to remark: "Here after all is my best work.") His opening line, "The frost that stings like fire upon my cheek," is reminiscent of those earliest impressions that fired his youthful enthusiasm when elfin spirits came to

"Draw with mute fingers on the frosted glass
Quaint fairy shapes of leech witcheries,
Pale flowers and glinting ferns and frigid trees
And meads of mystic grass,
Graven in many an austere phantasy."

In concluding, his "To silence, frost and beauty everywhere," would seem to have been prophetic of that beatific peace that was so shortly to be his own, for in little more than a week he had passed peacefully into the Great Beyond, and on February 11, his body was laid to rest in Beechwood Cemetery, hither followed by a large concourse of friends who had loved and revered him in life.

Thus sped from human ken, at the early age of thirty-seven, one whose memory must ever glow in the annals of our literary annals, and who accomplished in so short a span, and assuredly heretofore of harmony from whence to draw daily inspiration and delight. His was a most pleasing personality, and partook of grace both in form and manner; the depth of his devotion toward his little family can be gauged in that pathetic lyric, "White Pansies," and the succeeding poem, "We Too Shall Sleep," both of which were composed upon the death of their youngest child.

Given under my hand at Victoria, British Columbia, this 3rd day of December, 1925.

WM. SCOWROFF, Returning Officer.

for himself and little family. Of him we can indubitably say: "His works do follow him," and it is not in terms of silver and gold that we can measure the debt of gratitude we owe to such as Archibald Lampman, but by the steady pursuit of those ideals which he so faithfully represented, and in painstaking application towards their fulfilment.

Here it is that we must leave him anon, crowned anew with fragrant laurels, and here it is that we note on passing, trailing off the luminous way, "the shadow of a great name"—a shadow, worthy of being treasured in everlasting remembrance.

Author's Note.—It is to Duncan Campbell Scott, D.C.L., that the author of the accompanying sketch is particularly indebted for data relative thereto, and in this connection, she takes occasion to thank him, not only for very valuable and interesting information, but for the additional delight he has afforded all lovers of Archibald Lampman's poems who may have had the supreme pleasure of reading his friend's memoir from the pen of Dr. Scott himself.

Zoning Provisions Are Practically All That's Left of Bill

After the Town Planning Bill had run the gauntlet at a private meeting of the Municipal Committee yesterday morning, practically only the zoning provisions were left. The measure, as so amended by the committee together with collateral amendments to the Municipal Act, will be recommended to the Legislature. Hitherto, the Municipal Act provided for the setting apart of lands for residential purposes, but did not allow for the erection of churches and schools. Also there was no power to prohibit the erection of a factory. This want will be met by the amended legislation.

Messrs. Williams and Harvey, city solicitors, respectively, of Vancouver and Point Grey, had another interview with the committee yesterday morning. They appeared to be afraid the measure would go by the board altogether, but this was not contemplated, as the committee wanted to give the measure an honest trial and is prepared to do so.
